Foreword

The introduction of Goods & Services Tax (GST) marked a overall historical and transformative shift in India's taxation landscape, aiming to bring about greater efficiency, simplicity and uniformity in the indirect taxation system. Since its implementation, GST has not only streamlined the indirect tax system but has also played a pivotal role in promoting ease of doing business and economic growth. One of the key benefits of GST has been the elimination of the cascading effect of multiple taxes, which has lowered production costs, thereby benefitted end consumers and making Indian products more competitive globally, thus strengthening the country's position in international markets.

The Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI) through its GST & Indirect Taxes Committee has been assisting the Government by providing suggestions/ technical inputs to the Government on GST policy making and implementation. Furthermore, the Committee has consistently demonstrated its proactive approach by providing invaluable support to our members, enhancing their knowledge and skills through various initiatives like publications, certificate courses, conferences, programmes, live webcasts, e-learning etc. on GST.

I take this opportunity to acknowledge the efforts taken by the GST & Indirect Taxes Committee in revising the publication, 'Handbook on Exempted Supplies under GST'. This publication aims to provide a clear understanding of the legal provisions relating to exemption under GST. Additionally, it presents the various exemptions extended to goods and services under GST law in clear, accessible language. By simplifying complex legal provisions and compiling the numerous exemptions at one place, this Handbook serves as a valuable reference for stakeholders navigating the nuances of GST exemptions. This publication is updated by incorporating the amendments taken place till 15th April, 2025.

I would like to express my appreciation for the efforts of CA. Rajendra Kumar P, Chairman and CA. Umesh Sharma, Vice-Chairman along with the experts who have contributed in developing this useful publication which will benefit our members and other stakeholders.

I am confident that the readers will find this publication very useful in their professional assignments enabling them to fulfil their professional duties and responsibilities in more efficient and effective manner.

Preface

The Goods & Services Tax (GST) law is designed as a comprehensive tax on supply of goods and services, aiming to create a seamless and efficient indirect tax system across the country. However, certain exemptions have been provided under GST law to support specific sectors, promote economic growth and address social welfare concerns. They play a crucial role in balancing the objectives of revenue generation and economic development by providing relief to key industries, fostering charitable initiatives and ensuring the accessibility of essential goods and services for public welfare.

The GST & Indirect Taxes Committee is constantly working towards the benefit of members by coming out with new publications, revising the existing publications, organising seminars, conferences, workshops, etc. Keeping with its objective of GST Knowledge Dissemination, the Committee has come out with yet another revised version of its publication 'Handbook on Exempted Supplies under GST'. This publication provides an analysis of all the exemptions provided under GST law for goods as well as services, making them easily understandable. The content is structured to offer clarity on eligibility criteria and also analysing each entry of the exemption notification, making it a valuable resource for all stakeholders. The law stated in this publication is updated till 15th April, 2025.

We sincerely thank CA. Charanjot Singh Nanda, President, ICAI and CA. Prasanna Kumar D, Vice-President, ICAI for the encouragement and support extended by them to the various initiatives of the GST & Indirect Taxes Committee. We express our profound gratitude to CA. Satish Saraf for diligently revising and reviewing the publication. We also commend the efforts made by CA. Ayushi Aggarwal and CA. Sarthak Palta in the Secretariat of the Committee for providing the requisite technical and administrative assistance in successfully releasing this publication.

Though every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy and legitimacy of the information presented in this publication, it is important to acknowledge that differing perspectives or opinions may exist on the subjects covered herein. We urge our readers to kindly inform us of any unintentional errors or oversights that they may come across in this publication.

Background of Exemption

1.1 Introduction to Exemptions

The word exemption is commonly understood as a privilege. It can also mean freedom from fetters. GST Law has not defined the word "Exemption". Black's Law dictionary's 9th Edition defines Exemptions as "Freedom from a duty, liability, or other requirement; an exception; According to P Ramanatha Aiyar's Law Lexicon (Fourth Edition as revised by Shri. Shakil Ahmad Khan), the word "exempt" means putting a person beyond the application of law. It further says that when the word exempt or exemption is used in taxation parlance it means – (i) precluding from being chargeable and (ii) immune from a liability, obligation or penalty.

Exemption and non-liability are normally different from each other. For instance, while computing the gross turnover: -

- (a) exempted turnovers are includible in gross turnovers and thereafter subject to a deduction; and
- (b) in case of non-liability, the question of inclusion in gross turnovers does not arise.

A levy or tax is imposed by a taxing statute. The very same statute could also provide for exemption. Over the last 2 to 3 decades the word exemption has been colloquially used in taxing statutes in many ways – for example – Non-Taxable, Negative list, 'NIL rated' etc. It is common for people to understand that zero-rate means exempt which is incorrect. Exemption may also be understood by some as a situation when a statute provides for certain thresholds before the taxability arises. Many a times, the taxpayers confuse concessional rates with exemptions.

Normally, it is the State and / or the Central Government (or in appropriate cases Union Territories) which grant exemptions. Such, exemption can be granted - (i) conditionally (ii) generally (iii) through Government orders (iv) under special circumstances (v) through notifications (vi) by way of circulars (vii) by way of tax holidays (viii) to specific class (or kind) of goods and / or services (ix) to specific class of persons (x) for a specific time frame or with a cap on value (xi) to specified transactions etc. It can also be granted in any combination of the above since it is the prerogative of the Government.

Exemption provisions or rules ought to be enacted / administered and also read strictly. In case of any ambiguity the intention of the Legislature ought to be strictly borne in mind and given effect to. Generally, the language employed in the construction of an exemption statute must be (i) unambiguous (ii) clear (iii) strictly interpreted (iv) within the powers of the legislating / issuing authority and (v) cater to the intent of the legislature etc.

Exemptions could be granted prospectively, or in certain situations / circumstances retrospectively. Any such enactment must be within the Constitutional framework while bearing in mind the Legislative delegation. Referential legislations in respect of grant of exemptions must be generally avoided considering their complexity. Exemptions which commence during a year must be so enacted to take care of “pipeline transactions”. Exemptions with sunset clauses must be properly framed. The GST laws also provide for exemptions. This booklet discusses several aspects of such exemptions.

1.2 Exemptions under the Erstwhile Laws

It is important to understand the scheme of taxation of the Government (State or Central) to understand the nuances of exemptions. Normally, goods and/or services relating to traditional, social and economic importance, daily needs / necessities and Government policies qualify for the exemption. For example, under the Service Tax Regulations while clinical services and education services found favour for grant of exemption, many of the State Governments may have granted exemption in respect of sale of life saving drugs or books meant for reading. Similarly, many States, may have granted exemptions in respect of sale of food grains while agricultural services stood exempted.

The Constitution itself provided safeguards from the levy in respect of certain goods / services from the wrath of taxation like for instance Electricity, Newspapers etc. Apart from the nature of exemptions cited in the introductory part of this Booklet, broadly, exemptions (among others) granted by the State or Centre under the erstwhile laws could be traced to the following:

- (a) Public interest or general public good.
- (b) Goods of traditional, social and cultural importance, daily needs etc.
- (c) Growth of a particular class or kind of industry in a particular area in a State or union Territory.
- (d) Development of a State / Union Territory.
- (e) Objectives or policies of a State / Union Territory.
- (f) Imports of goods and / or services were granted exemptions to make exports competitive thereby resulting in foreign exchange earnings.

Exemptions were also granted to several classes of goods and / or services bearing in mind trade compulsions between Countries.

Under the erstwhile laws, exemptions provided were the subject matter of several rounds of litigation. This is because the statute (among other factors / issues) was:

- (i) ambiguous and clarity did not exist;
- (ii) not properly drafted resulting in classification issues;
- (iii) so understood that the essence or intent of legislature was not captured correctly;

- (iv) so understood by either party that resulted in incorrect interpretation or grant of exemptions;
- (v) neither workable nor effective;
- (vi) so drafted with too many conditions paving the way for - reading down, addition or substitution of words, providing natural or grammatical meaning, too many technical terms resulting in dilution of the language employed etc;
- (vii) so drafted causing hardship, inconvenience, injustice to a class or kind of persons or infringed upon the freedom of trade;
- (viii) causing anomaly or absurdity in the basic understating warranting judicial interference.

Despite the above issues that plagued exemptions, it must be said that the Government has played a pivotal role in the grant of exemptions resulting in growth of industry and economy. Importantly, there were several exemption provisions that were drafted by way of references to other Statutes, which resulted in uncalled for difficulty in interpretation. Compliances for the purpose of availment of exemptions was always a painful process under the erstwhile laws.

Exemptions granted under the erstwhile laws had an array of issues such as:

- (a) Exemptions with input tax credits
- (b) Exemptions without input tax credits
- (c) Exemptions with restricted input tax credits
- (d) Exemptions that came with conditions / compliances etc.

Trade and industry were very skeptical in availing exemptions under the erstwhile laws. This was because, denial of exemption on grounds that could be flimsy to highly technical interpretation resulted in extraordinary consequences for the trade. There are several instances where the tax consequences have been so great that the industry ceased to survive. Some of the words or phrases under the erstwhile laws that have resulted in huge litigations were “may”, “shall”, “must”, “should”, “prima facie”, “subject to”, “issue of Government order to be notified (in many cases words in GO are different from words in the notification)”, “public interest”, “promissory estoppel” etc. The list is endless.

There are several instances where the effective date of exemption notification itself has been questioned apart from questioning the intent of the Legislature. Thus, it would be fair to state that trade looked at an exemption notification with abundant caution and in several instances, had foregone the exemption simply because the consequences of availing an exemption and its denial at a later date will have disastrous consequences. It was well understood that indirect tax laws contained clauses relating to collection of taxes, which were machinery in nature. So long as the consumer / customer could afford the impact of tax, or if the tax so charged was available as input tax credit in the hands of the buyer / recipient, the taxes stood passed on.

Nevertheless, it would be fair to state that despite all these, under the erstwhile laws exemptions have played a key role in the growth of several classes of industries and resulted in enormous public good.

1.3 Impact of Exemptions on the Economy

There is a raging debate going on in India and across as to whether providing exemptions be it “direct tax” or “Indirect tax” would do good to the economy. There is also another school of thought that exemptions do no public good and in fact cause harm to the economy. Some economists opine that:

- the tax to GDP ratio will not go up until exemptions are reduced;
- exemptions push up the compliance costs;
- exemptions lead to unfair practices; and cause uncalled for litigation while legitimising tax avoidance;
- exemptions help the rich and affluent and large industries and do not result in achieving the desired results;
- exemptions cost the exchequer prohibitively; and
- exemptions hinder free trade while helping very few.

Exemptions granted by one country may affect the international trade of another country thus affecting the economies of different regions and countries. While debating on the economics of exemption the questions that often arise are:

- (a) Should exemptions be restricted only for public good?
- (b) Should exemptions be granted only in case of sunrise industries or industries in backward areas?
- (c) Should exemptions be restricted to goods of daily necessities or for goods and / or services relating to traditional, social and cultural importance?
- (d) Should exemption be granted only if it meets with the national objectives – say infra projects, health and education sectors etc.

The terms “exemption” and “exclusion” both refer to provisions that exempt some or all the value of goods or services from taxation. Exemptions reduce the taxable value to zero. Exclusions can do the same or they can reduce the taxable value by a certain percentage or by a flat value. Exemptions and exclusions affect the taxable value and not the rate. The fact is that an exemption directly impacts the exchequer. Any denial of exemption in respect of goods and / or services that affects the end price of a product or service of a consumer will most certainly reflect on the Government of the day. It is for this reason that economists are debating as to whether subsidy would be a better option as compared to exemption of either goods and / or service since the benefit would be traceable.

It is important to understand that an exemption provided by the Centre may not affect the State (under the erstwhile laws) but it does so in the GST regime. It is for this reason that States have been seeking trimming of exemptions. The exemption does not solely cover information held by public authorities concerned with the management of the economy or economic development. Some examples of how exemption affects the economy are:

- (i) As a major customer, employer and investor.
- (ii) Planning – at both local and national level, for example, transport policies, airports.
- (iii) Social, health, environmental policy – for example, public transport versus private car use.
- (iv) Planning or managing the economy – through setting or influencing interest rates, taxation, currency rates, controls on public spending, etc.
- (v) Political considerations – for example, trade embargos.
- (vi) Intended investment strategies.
- (vii) Finances of public corporations.

It is important to note that the Government cannot legislate for one person's prosperity by granting an exemption while taxing another. Exemptions derail the tax chain causing tax distortions and uneven economic activity. Over the years exemptions have been granted by the States / Centre depending on the pulls and pressures of politics. It has a dampening effect on the economy. An important aspect of exemptions that must be borne in mind is that somebody is paying for another's gain. It is for this reason that there have been studies undertaken by the Government to provide exemptions only on a scientific and need basis rather than on the politics of the State or Centre. Given this situation one can expect that exemptions are short lived and will be pruned over a period.

1.4 Impact on Pricing of Outward Supplies Exempt from Tax

Positive Impacts

- No GST is levied on output prices and the goods or services become cheaper for the consumer.
- The supplier is freed from the hassle of computing GST on output supplies considering its valuation, place of supply etc.
- No record of taxes is required to be maintained by the suppliers.
- No hassle of matching of input tax credit to the consumer.

Negative Impacts

- ITC on inputs becomes part of cost of supplier thereby becoming an invisible barrier to the seamless credit in the value chain.

- GST on input supplies of the supplier is still to be borne by the consumer and thus, some GST is inherent in the price of the exempt goods or services.

1.5 Types of Exemptions and Its Implications

1.5.1 Types of Exemptions

Exemptions are governed by section 11 of the CGST Act, along with corresponding provisions of the SGST Act/UTGST Act. Under section 11, the power to grant exemptions is vested in the Government, subject to the recommendations of the GST Council and only when such exemption is deemed necessary in the public interest.

Exemptions under the CGST Act can be classified into the following broad categories based on their nature and conditions of applicability and each category is defined based on the way the exemption is granted and the specific conditions, if any, that must be fulfilled. They are as follows:

1. General Exemption

A general exemption is an exemption that applies universally, without any preconditions or restrictions on its applicability. It is available to all taxpayers who fall within the specified category of goods or services. This exemption ensures uniform applicability across all transactions involving the specified goods or services.

2. Absolute Exemption

An absolute exemption is one that is not optional and must be mandatorily applied as prescribed by the Government. Taxpayers cannot choose to pay tax even if they wish to claim Input Tax Credit (ITC). For example: Notification No. 12/2017-CT(R) provides an absolute exemption to certain healthcare services. A specified service may be fully exempted, meaning service providers must not charge GST on it. Absolute exemptions are typically issued for public interest objectives, such as reducing the cost burden on essential services or commodities.

3. Conditional Exemption

A conditional exemption is granted subject to specific conditions that must be satisfied for the exemption to apply. If the taxpayer fails to meet the prescribed conditions, the exemption cannot be claimed.

Illustrative Conditions:

- Nature of the supplier (e.g., exemption applicable only to certain registered taxpayers).
- Nature of the recipient (e.g., exemption applies only when supplied to a Government entity).
- Specific use case (e.g., exemption granted only if goods are used for a defined purpose).
- Turnover thresholds (e.g., businesses below a certain turnover limit are exempt).

- Geographical location (e.g., exemptions for supplies made in specific States or Union Territories).

Key Takeaway: Conditional exemptions require taxpayers to carefully assess whether they meet the qualifying criteria before claiming the exemption.

Absolute vs. Conditional Exemptions

- Absolute exemptions granted under section 11(1) are not discretionary and must be applied as mandated.
- Conditional exemptions allow taxpayers to opt-in based on the satisfaction of prescribed conditions.

For instance:

- The GST rate of 5% without input tax credit (ITC)
- The GST rate of 5% without ITC or 18% with ITC

Since exemption notifications may not explicitly specify whether an exemption is absolute or conditional, careful interpretation is required. Notification No. 12/2017-CT(R), for example, operates as an absolute exemption based on the textual construction of each entry.

4. Complete or Partial Exemption

Exemptions may also be classified based on whether they fully exempt a supply from tax or only provide partial relief in terms of rate reduction or ITC restrictions:

- a) Complete Exemption - A complete exemption means the supply is entirely exempt from GST, and the supplier cannot charge GST from the recipient. For Example: Basic healthcare services provided by hospitals are completely exempt from GST.
- b) Partial Exemption- A partial exemption means that while the supply is subject to GST, the rate is reduced or certain conditions restrict the full applicability of ITC.

Example: Accommodation Services:

- GST @ 5% without ITC.
- GST @ 12% with ITC.
- The taxpayer can choose between the two options, but ITC is restricted if opting for the lower rate.

Partial exemptions are commonly used to strike a balance between revenue collection and industry-specific relief.

1.5.2 Implications of Exemptions

Under section 17(2) of the CGST Act, ITC is not available on supplies that are wholly exempt. Additionally, if an exemption results in a reduced tax rate subject to conditions, any excess credit accumulation is restricted through notifications.

Handbook on Exempted Supplies under GST

Exemption provisions are subject to strict interpretation and incorrect application can result in tax liabilities:

1. Incorrectly availing an exemption → Output tax liability arises, and ITC that was foregone cannot be reclaimed.
2. Not availing an applicable exemption → Output tax paid erroneously is payable to the Government, while the corresponding ITC is denied.

Given the irreversible nature of certain ITC implications, businesses must ensure exemptions are rightly availed to avoid unintended tax liabilities.

Aspects of Exemption

- It provides a mandatory requirement to follow absolute exemptions.

2.1.5 Effective Date of Exemption

The effective date of the notification would be the date mentioned in the notification as per section 11(1). However, GST law does not have any provision in cases where no date is mentioned in the notification. Section 5A of the Central Excise Act, 1944 provides for such a situation which says that unless otherwise provided, the effective date of notification shall be:

- The date of its issue for publication in the official gazette
- The date on which it is made available on the official website of the Government Department.

2.1.6 Applicability of Exemption Notifications issued under CGST/IGST to SGST/ UTGST and vice versa

As per section 11(4) of the SGST Act and section 8(4) of the UTGST Act, any notification issued by the Central Government, on the recommendations of the Council, under section 11(1) or order issued section 11(2) of the CGST Act shall be deemed to be a notification or, as the case may be, an order issued under SGST/ UTGST Act.

Applicability of Exemption Notification

Issued under	Applicable to	Yes/ No
CGST Act	SGST/ UTGST Act	Yes
SGST/ UTGST Act	CGST Act	No
IGST Act	CGST/ SGST/ UTGST Act	No
SGST/ UTGST Act	IGST Act	No

2.2 Supply of Exempted Goods and Services

Supply of exempted goods and services is simple to understand. For e.g., sale of fruits by a fruit seller shall require no further examination. However, when such exempt supply is a part of other supplies which might be taxable, one has to be cautious as to the determination of the classification. If such exempt supply is an integral part of two or more supplies of goods or services or both, or any combination thereof, which are naturally bundled and supplied in conjunction with each other in the ordinary course of business, one of which is a principal supply, then such package shall be classified as a composite supply. The principal supply shall decide the nature of the entire package and if such supply is taxable, the entire package shall be taxed at such rate but if the principal supply is exempt, then, the entire supply shall be exempted. For e.g., a shop owner sells one box of glass bangles to a customer for Rs. 10,000 and charges Rs. 150 as packing charges. Individually, packing services are taxable @18%, but, since they are incidental to a principal supply of goods, they (being part of composite supply) shall also be exempt from GST. However, in case an exempt supply is part of a customised package which is not a composite supply and consists of two or more individual supplies of goods or services, or any combination thereof, when made in conjunction with each other for a single price shall form part of a mixed supply. In case of a mixed supply, the highest rate supply determines the rate for the entire package. For e. g., if a person sells a combo of fruits and chocolates for Rs. 1000, then the entire package shall be taxed at the rate applicable for chocolates and value of fruits cannot be exempted in any manner.

2.3 Zero-rated Supplies and Exemptions

A person making exempt supplies is not supposed to pay tax on the value of his output. He is also not eligible to claim input tax credit on his inward supply of goods and services used in providing such output exempt supplies. However, an exception has been carved out by law in case of zero-rated supplies. The provisions as contained under section 16 of the IGST Act provide that while no tax shall be levied on certain categories of supplies termed as 'zero rated supplies', refund of input taxes, shall be allowed in such cases. Thus, while the output of such supplies remains exempt from payment of tax, such supplies can be distinguished from exempt supplies as input tax on goods and services used in providing such services has been allowed to the supplier. Following supplies shall be treated as zero-rated supplies-

- (a) Export of goods or services or both;

- (b) Supply of goods or services or both to a SEZ developer or SEZ unit for authorised operations.

Claim of refund for export of exempted goods

Any zero-rated supply is eligible for refund of input tax paid by such supplier. Even if the output is exempt, the law allows the benefit of refund of input taxes to such supplier also. For e.g. Chanchan (P) Ltd. is exporting plastic bangles to Canada which is exempt under GST vide Notification No. 2/ 2017-Central Tax (Rate), dated 28-Jun-2017. For manufacturing plastic bangles, it bought plastic as raw material and other decorative items and paid tax amounting to Rs. 1,50,000/- on it. Since it is exporting an exempt item, Chanchan (P) Ltd. can claim refund of unutilized input tax credit paid on such inward supplies. Thereby, export of exempted goods or services will also be treated as zero rated supplies.

2.4 Exempt Supplies and Availability of Input Tax Credit (ITC)

If a person is supplying exempt goods / services, he cannot avail ITC as available on his purchase of goods and services used for supply of such exempt output. For e. g. a person who is selling banana and uses a warehouse for which rent is paid on which GST is levied. Since supply of banana is exempt, such person would not get Input tax credit of the GST paid on warehouse.

If supply is exempt, can refund of ITC be claimed?

If a person is supplying 'nil' rated or fully exempted goods / services, he cannot avail refund of the credit accumulated on account of rate of tax on inputs being higher than the rate of tax on output supplies. The position has been clarified in section 54(3) of the CGST Act.

If supply is exempt, will the recipient who is required to pay GST under reverse charge, be also exempted?

If a supply is 'nil' rated or fully exempt, even the recipient is not required to pay the tax under reverse charge. For e. g. when service of transportation of rice is exempt, even the person responsible for payment of tax under reverse charge is not required to pay tax under reverse charge.

If a supplier supplies both taxable as well as exempted supplies, can he avail his entire input tax credit?

If a supplier is supplying both taxable (including zero rated) as well as exempted goods then, the amount of credit shall be restricted to so much of the input tax as is attributable to the said taxable supplies including zero-rated supplies. Input tax credit is available on inputs, input services and capital goods procured by the supplier for supplying taxable supplies. One may refer to the formula for reversal of input tax credit as per rules 42 and 43 of the CGST Rules, 2017 which have been discussed below:

Determination of Input Tax Credit on Inputs and Input Services as per Rule 42

For determining such amount, the law has provided the following procedure in respect of inputs and input services:

- Such person shall avail entire input tax credit on inputs and input services used for provision of exclusively taxable supplies.
- Such person shall not avail input tax credit on inputs and input services used for provision of exclusively exempt supplies or for making supplies for the purposes other than business.
- Such persons shall avail proportionate input tax credit in relation to inputs and input services which are used for provision of both taxable as well exempt supplies. The proportion of input tax credit attributable towards exempt supplies, be denoted as 'D1' and calculated as -

$$D1 = (E+F) \times C2$$

where,

'E' is the aggregate value of exempt supplies during the tax period, and

'F' is the total turnover in the State of the registered person during the tax period:

'C2' is Common Credit:

Further, the amount of credit attributable to non-business purposes if common inputs and input services are used partly for business and partly for non-business purposes, be denoted as 'D2', and shall be equal to five percent of C2.

Thus, the available common credit shall be as under:

ITC on inputs and input services used exclusively for provision of taxable services + Common ITC(C2) minus D1 minus D2

The above formulae need to be applied for the entire year considering the total exempted and taxable supplies for the year for all tax periods before the due date for furnishing of the return for the month of September following the end of the financial year to which such credit relates.

Determination of Input Tax Credit on Capital Goods under Rule 43

'Capital goods' is defined in section 2(19) of the CGST Act to mean goods which have been capitalised in the books of accounts. In respect of capital goods, the entire ITC is available at the time of purchase of such capital goods. It is important to mention that no ITC is available to the extent of depreciation under Income Tax Act, 1961 has been claimed on such value. Further, rule 43 provides that when such capital goods are partly used for the supply of exempted goods or exempted services, the ITC availed thereon has to be reversed every month. The amount to be reversed is calculated by dividing the input tax credit availed on the capital goods by 60 (representing the useful life of the capital goods in months) and then multiplying the result by the proportion of exempt turnover (E) to the total turnover (F) during the tax period. This computation is done as follows:

$$\text{ITC to be reversed per month} = \frac{(\text{ITC availed on capital goods}) \times E}{60 \times F}$$

Where,

'E' is the aggregate value of exempt supplies, made, during the tax period, and

'F' is the total turnover of the registered person during the tax period.

Classification of Exemption

Exemptions granted as per section 11 of the CGST Act are absolute or conditional from whole of tax or part of tax. These exemptions are capable of carving out a portion from an entry so as to differentially alter the rate of tax applicable to goods or services in that entry. Further, we can classify the exemptions under three parts:

- Qua-supplier: This type of exemption is provided only to a particular supplier like exemption to the services provided by a charitable trust registered under section 12AA or 12AB of Income-Tax Act, 1961.
- Qua-Recipient: This type of exemption is provided to recipients like supplies made to exporter are taxable @ 0.05% CGST and 0.05% SGST as per Notification No. 40/ 2017-Central Tax (Rate), dated 23-Oct-2017.
- Qua-Supplies: This type of exemption is provided to a particular supply like exemption to the supply of fresh fruits, vegetables and milk.

Burden to prove availability of Exemption is on the Supplier

Every supplier claiming his goods or services as exempt needs to establish the same to the revenue authorities. In its judgment in the case of CC(Import), Mumbai v. Dilip Kumar and Company & Ors (Civil Appeal No. 3327 of 2007), the Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court held that an exemption notification should be interpreted strictly and the burden of proving applicability would be on the assessee to show that his case comes within the parameters of the exemption clause or exemption notification.

It was further held that when there is ambiguity in the exemption notification which is subject to strict interpretation, the benefit of such ambiguity cannot be claimed by the subject/ assessee and it must be interpreted in favour of the Revenue.

2.5 Procedure to avail exemption

There is no specified procedure to avail an exemption. Any person supplying exempted goods or services can avail exemption subject to the precautions in terms of determining his classification of such exempted goods or services. Certain items require clarity while availing an exemption and can be material in determining an exemption, some of which are as follows:

Notification

One should check whether the exemption intended to be availed falls under any of the notifications issued by Government in terms of section 11(1) of the CGST Act. Whether goods or services fall under Notification No. 02/ 2017-Central Tax (Rate), dated 28-Jun-2018 or Notification No. 12/ 2017-Central Tax (Rate), dated 28-Jun-2017 or any other notification.

Definitions given in Notification

One should carefully analyze the definitions provided in the exemption notification before claiming exemption. Understanding the exemption without considering the definitions given in the notifications is incomplete. Such approach may lead to unnecessary litigation and can lead to financial burden on the business.

Principles of Interpretation

Understanding of rules of interpretation and general explanatory notes provided in the First Schedule to the Customs Tariff Act, 1975 will help in identifying more accurate heading of the supply and thereby, arriving at the conclusion as to whether or not the supply is an exempt supply.

Advance Rulings on the Subject

One should check whether there is any advance ruling related to the exemption intended to be availed which can assist in better decision making. However, advance ruling given by the Authority applies only on applicant who had sought it and on the concerned officer or the jurisdictional officer in respect of the applicant.

Court rulings etc. to be taken care of Any other judicial pronouncement related to the exemption must be considered before availing of any exemption. One has to be very careful before relying on any court judgement, the facts of the judgment and principles established in the judgment to be cross checked and verified before relying on the same.

Issue related to Principal Contractor and Sub-contractor Service

Under GST, the services provided by way of pure labour contracts of construction, erection, commissioning, installation, completion, fitting out, repair, maintenance, renovation, or alteration of a civil structure or any other original works pertaining to the beneficiary-led individual house construction or enhancement under the Housing for All (Urban) Mission or Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana and services by way of pure labour contracts of construction, erection, commissioning, or installation of original works pertaining to a single residential unit otherwise than as a part of a residential complex are exempt.

Any reference to a supply shall not mean a reference to its subsidiary supplies i.e. supply taken to provide such supply. Such an input supply shall be considered in its individual capacity and any rate or exemption as applicable to the main supply does not automatically apply to sub supplies. For e. g. if any supply is provided to the Government by a contractor (Mr. X) and such supply is exempt, then the supply of sub-contractor (Mr. Y) to the main contractor shall not be exempt and it needs to be examined as to whether any exemption is available to such supply as well. Mr. Y cannot be said to have provided supply to the Government.

Principles of Exemption

3.1 Basic Principles of Construction of Exemption Provisions

It is expected that Laws are drafted by experts in the chosen fields and the language employed would therefore, leave little room for difficulties in construction / interpretation. But experience in reality is often different. When a draftsman translates his intent into law, while keeping in mind the objects and reasons for the relevant statute, there could always be a flaw. Therefore, ambiguous words, expressions, inconsistencies do creep in. Interpretation can be understood as follows:

- Interpretation is independent of facts;
- The application of a provision would most certainly depend on facts of a given case and its surrounding circumstances.

In essence, interpretation means understanding the true sense of the provision which the legislature intends to convey ensuring that the reader understands it the same way; The word construction is nothing but drawing conclusions that the provisions of law desire to convey. To that extent interpretation and construction are not synonymous. However, these words are being used interchangeably. The basic principles of construction of any provision, be it taxability or exemption are largely the same.

Some of these principles are the following:

- (a) A construction of a statute must at the threshold be never open to judicial interpretation. For example, no law can be enacted unless the Constitution empowers the legislature to do so.
- (b) A statute must be construed based on the intent of the person who wants to legislate. It must convey the “true and legal” meaning as the legislature intended; it must be exhaustive; it must cover all possible intended situations; the language employed must be simple, cogent and easy to understand while the words used must convey plainly the intent and object of the legislature; importantly the spirit of the legislature must be conveyed through the construction of a statute.
- (c) It must be so drafted or construed that it must be read as a whole and in its context; there must be no mischief; there must be no scope of vivisectioning the construction; the purpose of the construction is to reach the intended recipient.
- (d) Each word, phrase, expression or sentence must be so construed that the general purpose of the Act is met.
- (e) Equal attention must be paid in construction of a statute that it serves the dominant and ancillary purposes with equal force.

- (f) A beneficial interpretation of a statute must not result into an exercise in futility.
- (g) A plain or literal reading of a statute must ensure equity without ambiguity.
- (h) The language employed must ensure grammatical accuracy; must not permit addition, rejection or substitution of words; avoid technical words, words used by business etc., to have the desired effect of a construction.
- (i) The construction of a statute must ensure that there is no injustice, hardship or inconvenience caused to a person who is not the intended recipient.
- (j) Headings, punctuations must be taken care of. These often cause ambiguity and lack of clarity to a reader.
- (k) Illustrations can be provided to provide clarity.
- (l) Wherever definitions are required they must be supplied by the statute. To the extent possible referential legislation must be avoided since different statutes may have different objects.
- (m) Any construction involving a Proviso must be clear – either to “except” or “include” or “qualify” and nothing more. Generally, a Proviso must not lead to a different construction.
- (n) The provision so enacted must lay emphasis on “substance” rather than on “form”.
- (o) Many times, a provision contains an explanation. The job of an explanation is to explain the “words” contained in the provision. It is definitely a part and parcel of the provision. An explanation when inserted is generally understood to go back to the date on which the provision is deemed to be operational. When an explanation is appended to a clause in a section then the explanation is deemed to apply only to that clause. However, when an explanation is added at the end of a section having several sub-sections / clauses then it is deemed to apply to all sub-sections and clauses unless the explanation qualifies with words such as “for the purposes of clause (a) of sub-section (3) of section 12” etc. An explanation generally supports the main object of the enactment itself.
- (p) Sometimes a provision contains or refers to a Schedule. A Schedule attached or appended to an Act forms part of the enactment. A Schedule generally carries details, and it avoids a section being overburdened with such details. Generally, a Schedule is a matter of convenience.
- (q) Several provisions commence with the expressions “notwithstanding anything contained”. It is generally known as a non-obstante clause. It means the relevant provision has an over-riding effect over a particular section or circumstance or any other enactment itself.
- (r) Apart from all these a provision sometimes uses the words “deem, deemed or deeming etc.,”. Usage of such words implies that the provision creates a legal fiction. Normally, the fiction created is for the purpose of that provision alone and it cannot be extended to any other provision of the enactment.

These are some of the basic principles of construction of a provision. If a draftsman has to bear all these principles in mind and go ahead with construing an exemption provision, he will be overburdened. It is for these reasons that a draftsman generally construes the provision first and then applies these legal principles to ensure that even in case of a judicial review or challenge the provision stands the test of law. It is certainly a huge responsibility on the part of a draftsman to keep these guiding principles in mind while drafting an exemption provision which backs the legislative intent.

3.2 Whether an Exemption is Mandatory or Optional?

One of the most burning issues that bothers the tax fraternity as well as trade and industry is whether to avail an exemption or not? More importantly, whether availing an exemption can be optional or would it be mandatory. In order to answer this vexed issue, we need to understand some basics of availment / non-availment of exemptions:

- (a) If the output stands exempted, it necessarily envisages that input tax credit shall accordingly stand restricted.
- (b) Once the output is exempt, there can be no tacit collection of taxes meaning the incidence of taxes (even at the general rate) cannot be passed on to the customer through a pricing mechanism.
- (c) If the exemption is product / service specific, entity specific, period or area specific, cap on value etc., it appears that availment of such exemption is mandatory. It may not be possible to pay output tax, say at a general rate and continue to avail input tax credits.
- (d) Merely because a customer may be willing to pay taxes on exempted goods or services, it does not mean that the supplier can collect taxes; in fact, in such cases it will amount to excess / unauthorised collection of taxes resulting in forfeiture of taxes whereas input tax credits will continue to stand restricted. Thus, it can amount to a double whammy.
- (e) Some tax experts believe that once the tax stands collected on the output, availability of input tax credit would be automatic; This is an issue which has been subject to judicial review on several occasions and on most occasions, it has been held in favour of Revenue;
- (f) The principles underlying the grant of an exemption would generally be to alleviate the difficulties faced by a particular sector of business and to make them more competitive or to boost or encourage the economy of a particular area in a State or Country (and to make them competitive); or to encourage small and medium size trade and industry to invest the profits arising out of price advantage back into business resulting in higher economic activity etc. If these are broadly the underlying principles then, availment of exemptions on an optional basis would defeat the very purpose of grant of exemption and thus, it appears that such a scheme would not be possible;
- (g) Difficulty often arises when the trade and industry is not very certain as to whether a particular product / service stands exempted since there may be a classification issues. In such over-riding circumstances, it is always better to seek an advance ruling to avoid possible forfeiture of taxes and thereafter, avail the input tax as a disallowance. Even in this situation it is advisable not to collect taxes, since taxes collected are to be remitted to the exchequer. In such a situation, if later it turns out that the goods / service is really exempt from payment of taxes then the question of restriction of input tax credit will most certainly arise.

- (h) In any of these situations it would be important to understand the effect of taxation in the following situations :

What if taxes are not collected by a Supplier considering the fact that goods / services stand exempt but it later turns out to be a taxable transaction:- This is a situation faced quite often by the trade and industry. Assuming that factually it is a legal issue and the supplier has not collected taxes, Courts have often come to the rescue of the supplier by stating that if outward supplies are taxable, then the corresponding input taxes would stand allowed even if it is not availed (or restricted) in the original returns.

Can the Supplier in the above situation pass on the output tax paid by him through a debit note or supplementary invoice :- In the normal course, if before the tax office raises the issue and collects the taxes, the supplier or recipient becomes aware that the transaction claimed as exempt is actually taxable, then a fresh tax invoice could be raised and reported along with applicable interest against the said taxable supply. Additionally, a financial credit note should be issued against the wrongly issued bill of supply. In this situation, it will turn out to be tax neutral so far as the supplier and the recipient are concerned. The challenge of availing input tax credits at a later date (assuming it is not claimed / availed within the prescribed period) would continue to haunt the supplier. This situation also needs to be looked into by the law makers.

Considering, each of the situations cited supra, the supplier has to be very careful. In case of a doubt, the best way would be to seek an advance ruling to settle the issue.

3.3 Retrospective Application of an Exemption

It is a settled position that the Union and the States are competent to legislate any law retrospectively within the Constitutional framework. This power is generally used for curing defects in law or to nullify the impact of Court judgements. It is also a settled position of law that there can be retroactive amendments imposing an additional liability. However, machinery and procedural provisions can be subject to retrospective amendment. A retrospective operation of law which is oppressive and appears to take away a benefit already bestowed can be held to be confiscatory in nature and it can therefore be said to be violative of Articles 14 and 19 of the Constitution.

A retrospective amendment cannot affect an existing right and create a new obligation. For instance, if exemption is provided to say, sale of footwear costing less than Rs. 500/- then a retrospective amendment cannot be made to provide that it applies only to plastic footwear.

A taxing statute cannot be termed to be retrospective, if it taxes an event that is continuing when the amendment or Act came into force. For instance, in respect of agreements entered into under the erstwhile laws between a developer and a customer, taxes can be levied under the GST laws to the extent the contract is continuing after the GST law came into force.

It is a settled position of law that any retrospective amendment, if beneficial, is deemed to be good law. In one of the States' tax exemptions were granted to manufacturing industries located in a particular backward area. It so happened, that a few Granite Industries engaged purely in cutting and polishing of granites came up in that area and availed tax exemptions. The Department later took up a position that "cutting and polishing of granites" does not result in manufacture. All the granite industries in that area went up in arms – and the Government later relented and granted exemption retrospectively. Having understood this case history, let us now look at the issues that arise when the Government grants an exemption retrospectively:

- (a) A registered person may have already collected taxes from his customers for the past tax periods and may not have paid to the Government, in which case, such a retrospective amendment would have the effect of an unjust enrichment in his hands (if taxes so collected have not been made over to the Government). Additionally, if the registered person has availed input tax credit against such supplies, in which case, such input tax credit already availed would need to be reversed resulting in payment of taxes along with interest and penalties. The taxes so collected from his customers also need to be paid to the Government. In this scenario the following consequences arise:
- The customers from whom taxes have been collected and paid to the Government stand to get refunds.
 - Alternatively, the taxes so collected from customers and paid to the credit of the Government can stand forfeited, if such customers, do not come forward to make such refund claims. In this scenario, can the Government be said to be unjustly enriched.
 - Tax, interest and penalties levied on the registered person on account of input tax reversals would have to be borne by the supplier as costs.
 - If taxes have been collected by the registered person from his customers and not paid to the Government, then it could lead to initiation of prosecution proceedings depending on the quantum of taxes and nature of the offence.
- (b) If the registered person has not collected taxes but has remitted taxes from his own pocket then:
- it will result in a refund situation provided the supplier has not availed any input tax set off;
 - if he has availed input tax set off, then the resultant effect could be a smaller or lower amount of refund.
- (c) Assume a situation where the Government denies exemption and thereafter, on litigation the Courts restore the exemption. It is a very painful exercise of litigation for the supplier and he has to go through the process cited in (a) and (b) above to prove the bona fides of his case.
- (d) What would be the position of a registered person having multiple branches in different States and when one State grants or allows exemption while another does not? For example, consider a company engaged in the supply of educational services with branches in different states. The supply of services to educational institutions may be eligible for exemption in one State under the specific notification or circular, while in another state, the exemption may be either denied or interpreted differently by the local tax authorities. Normally this may not happen because to remove the State wise exemptions etc. GST is being implanted. However, any State has given any specific exemption from levy of GST, the supplier has to avail such exemption in that particular State only and in other States the supplier has to collect and pay the GST.

- (e) It must be noted that in each of the cases, the law pre-supposes that taxes are deemed to have been collected by the supplier unless the supplier proves otherwise. The net impact of a retrospective exemption could be rather cumbersome for the supplier.
- (f) Let us now turn our attention to the recipient of such supply and analyse the situation.
- In cases, where taxes are charged by the supplier and input tax credits have been availed by the recipient, the presumption is that the supplier would have remitted such taxes to the Government. In such a situation, the availment of input tax credits by the recipient would stay unhindered; however, if the supplier has not remitted the taxes, then the question arises as to whether availment of such input tax credits in the hands of the recipient could be denied?
 - In cases, where no taxes are charged whereas the supply is held to be a taxable supply in the hands of the supplier then the only question is whether the supplier can issue a debit note to the recipient. This is a contract between the supplier and the recipient and Government would have no role to play. However, the question is whether the recipient can avail input tax credits on the strength of debit note if within the prescribed timelines then the answer would be 'yes' – otherwise 'no'. This view is, however, subject to the provisions of section 74/74A of the CGST Act, 2017.
- (g) Some of the situations when retrospective exemptions are granted by the Government could be:
- (i) To alleviate the difficulties caused by ambiguous words / text etc., used in notifications / circulars / legislative provisions etc.
 - (ii) To give effect to the intent of Legislature which did not have the desired effect.
 - (iii) To give effect to orders of judiciary;

To conclude, one will have to exercise caution and care while interpreting the exemption provisions. While this publication would provide an insight, the facts and surrounding circumstances have to be considered while understanding a retrospective amendment to the exemption provisions.

Chapter 4

Procedural Aspects

4.1 Registration in cases of Supply of Exempt Goods and/or Services

Section 9 provides that a taxable person is liable to pay tax under the GST laws. Taxable person has been defined as a person who is registered or liable to be registered. Section 22 and section 24 of the CGST Act provide the criteria which when fulfilled require a person to take registration. Section 22 provides for registration of every supplier effecting the taxable supplies if his turnover exceeds the threshold limit of Rs. 40 lakhs in case exclusive supply of goods baring few States, Rs. 20 lakhs in case of supply of goods (few States) & services and Rs.10 lakhs in special category States. Every supplier shall be liable to be registered under the Act in the State from which he makes a taxable supply of goods or services or both. It is important to note that registration is required 'in' the State 'from where' taxable supplies are made. Section 24 lays down a list of persons who are required to obtain registration without any monetary limit i.e. even if they do not have supplies as stated above. Such person includes electronic commerce operators who is required to collect tax at source under section 52, input service distributors, non-resident taxable persons etc.

Further, section 23 of the CGST Act provides that the following persons shall not be liable to take registration:

- any person engaged exclusively in the business of supplying goods or services or both that are not liable to tax or wholly exempt from tax under this Act or under the Integrated Goods and Services Tax Act;
- an agriculturist, to the extent of supply of produce out of cultivation of land.

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in sub-section (1) of section 22 or section 24, the Government may, on the recommendations of the Council, by notification, specify the category of persons who may be exempted from obtaining registration under this Act. Accordingly, the Central Government vide Notification No. 05/2017-Central Tax, dt. 19-Jun-2017 has, w.e.f. 22-Jun-2017 amended Section 23 of CGST Act, 2017 to include the persons who are only engaged in making supplies of taxable goods or services or both, the total tax on which is liable to be paid on reverse charge basis by the recipient of such goods or services or both under section 9(3) of the CGST Act, 2017 in the category of persons exempt from obtaining registration under the aforesaid Act. Provided that the Central Government vide Notification No. 24/2024-Central Tax, dt. 09-Oct-2024, has specified that with effect from 10-Oct-2024, nothing contained in this Notification 05/2017-Central Tax shall apply to any person engaged in the supply of metal scrap, falling under Chapters 72 to 81 in the First Schedule to the Customs Tariff Act, 1975 (51 of 1975).

Thus, a person who is making exclusive supply of exempt goods or services or both is not required to obtain registration; however, if he is engaged in the supply of any taxable goods or services, he shall be required to take registration. It is worth noting that the above Rs. 20 lakhs limit as specified in section 22 shall be arrived at after adding both taxable as well as exempt supplies. Thus, even if a person has Rs 19.5 lakhs of exempt supplies but Rs. 1 lakh of taxable supplies, he is required to take registration.

4.2 Documents, E-way Bills and Records required in case of Exempt Supplies and Consequences of Non-Compliance

4.2.1 Documents required to be issued in case of Exempt Supply

Section 31(3)(c) of the CGST Act provides that a registered person supplying exempt goods or services or both or paying tax under the provisions of section 10 shall issue, instead of a tax invoice, a bill of supply containing such particulars and, in such manner, as may be prescribed. It is further provided that a registered person has an option not to issue bill of supply if the value of the goods or services or both supplied (per invoice) is less than Rs.200/-, subject to the following conditions-

- (i) the recipient is not a registered person; and
- (ii) the recipient does not require such invoice.

In such a situation, the registered person shall issue a consolidated bill of supply for such supplies at the close of each day in respect of all such supplies.

4.2.2 Contents of Bill of Supply

A bill of supply shall contain the following particulars-

- (a) name, address and GSTIN of the supplier;
- (b) a consecutive serial number not exceeding 16 characters;
- (c) date of issue;
- (d) name, address and GSTIN of registered recipient;
- (e) HSN Code for goods or SAC for services;
- (f) description of goods or services or both;
- (g) value of supply of goods or services or both taking into account discount or abatement, if any; and
- (h) signature or digital signature of the supplier or his authorised representative.

In terms of the First Proviso to rule 46, the Central Government vide Notification No. 78/2020-Central Tax, dated 15-Oct-2020 had specified the requirement of mentioning the number of digits of HSN code on invoice or bill of supply based on the annual turnover of previous financial year which is provided as under:

Annual Turnover in the preceding Financial Year	Number of Digits of HSN Code
Upto Rs 5 Crores	4 (optional for B2C supply)
More than Rs 5 Crores	6

If the aggregate turnover during the preceding financial year is up to Rs. 5 crores then, there is no requirement of mentioning HSN in respect of supplies made to unregistered persons.

It is further provided that, in case of export of goods or services which are exempt under GST, the bill of supply shall carry an endorsement “supply meant for exports/ supply to SEZ developer/ unit for authorised operations under bond or LUT without payment of IGST” and shall specify the following details, namely-

- (i) Name and address of the recipient;
- (ii) Address of delivery; and
- (iii) Name of the country of destination.

It is important to note here that vide Circular No. 45/ 19/ 2018-GST, dated 30-May-2018, it has been clarified that in case of export of exempted or non-GST goods without payment of IGST LUT/ bond is not required. Under such a scenario, a view can be taken that in case of export of exempted goods or services, the bill of supply may carry endorsement as “supply meant for exports/ supply to SEZ developer/ unit for authorised operations”.

It is also clarified in rule 49 that any invoice issued under any other Act in respect of non-taxable supply shall be treated as bill of supply under GST. For example, invoice issued under State VAT Act for supply of alcoholic liquor meant for human consumption shall be considered as bill of supply for the purpose of GST Act.

4.2.3 Invoice-cum-bill of Supply

Rule 46A of CGST Rules, 2017 overrides rule 46, rule 49 and rule 54, to provide that a registered person supplying taxable goods as well as exempted goods or services or both to an unregistered person may issue a single “invoice-cum-bill of supply” for all such supplies.

Provisions relating to issue of documents by registered person can be summarized as follows-

Cases	Document to be issued
Supply of taxable goods or services	Tax Invoice
Supply of exempted goods or services	Bill of supply
Supply of taxable as well as exempted goods or services to unregistered person	Invoice-cum-bill of supply
Supply of taxable as well as exempted goods or services to registered person	Tax Invoice, in respect of taxable supplies Bill of supply in respect of exempted supplies

4.2.4 E-way Bill in case of Exempt Supplies

Section 68 of CGST Act, 2017 read with rule 138 of CGST Rules, 2017 requires every registered person who causes movement of goods of consignment whose value is exceeding Rs. 50,000/- to generate an e-way bill on the common portal in respect of such supply, before commencement of movement of goods. Explanation 2 to rule 138(1) provides that the consignment value of goods shall be the value, determined in accordance with the provisions of section 15, declared in an invoice, a bill of supply or a delivery challan, as the case may be, issued in respect of the said consignment and also includes the central tax, State or Union territory tax, integrated tax and cess charged, if any, in the document and shall exclude the value of exempt supply of goods where the invoice is issued in respect of both exempt and taxable supply of goods. Thus, the value of exempted goods shall not be considered for the purpose of computing the limit of Rs 50,000. Therefore, in case of pure supply of exempted goods, other than de-oiled cake as specified in rule 138(14) of CGST Act, 2017, no e-way bill is required.

However, rule 55A of CGST Rules, 2017 requires the person-in-charge of the conveyance to carry a copy of the tax invoice or the bill of supply issued in accordance with the provisions of rules 46, 46A or 49 in a case where such person is not required to carry an e-way bill.

Example:

- If a registered person transporting goods of consignment value of Rs. 70,000/- which includes exempt supply of Rs. 30,000/-, then, the e-way bill is not required to be generated because the consignment value is calculated as Rs. 40,000/- which is below the limit of Rs. 50,000/-.
- A registered person transporting exempt goods of consignment value of Rs. 70,000/- is not required to generate e-way bill but the person-in-charge of the conveyance must carry the bill of supply.

4.2.5 Records required to be maintained by Supplier of Taxable/ Exempt Supplies

As per section 35(1), every registered person shall keep and maintain, at his principal place of business mentioned in its registration certificate, a true and correct account of the following:

- Production and manufacture of goods.
- Inward and outward supply of goods or services or both – Such details should include name and complete addresses of suppliers from whom he has received the goods or services chargeable to tax under the Act and name and complete addresses of persons to whom the goods or services chargeable to tax has been supplied.
- Stock of goods – It has been provided that such accounts shall contain particulars of the opening balance, receipt, supply, goods lost, stolen, destroyed, written off or disposed of by way of gift or free sample and the balance of stock including raw materials, finished goods, scrap and wastage thereof.
- Input tax credit availed.
- Output tax payable and paid.
- Such other particulars as may be prescribed.

Thus, every supplier of exempted goods also needs to maintain proper sale purchase register, stock register and manufacturing records.

In addition to the above, rule 56 requires every registered person to keep and maintain the following records-

- Account of the goods or services imported or exported.
- Account of supplies attracting payment of tax on reverse charge.
- Account of advances received, paid and adjustments made thereto.
- A register of tax delivery challan issued or received during any tax period.

It is important to mention that other requisites of books of accounts including the place at which these are required to be maintained, manner in which these are to be maintained, manner of making entries in registers etc. has to be complied with. Section 36 of CGST Act, 2017 requires a registered person to keep and maintain books of accounts or other records for a period of 72 months from the due date of furnishing the annual return (i.e. 31st December of subsequent financial year or such date as extended by Notification) for the year pertaining to such accounts and records. However, where a registered person is a party to an appeal or revision or any other proceedings before the Appellate Authority or Revisional Authority or Appellate Tribunal or Court, whether filed by him or by the Commissioner, or is under investigation for an offence under Chapter XIX, he shall retain the books of accounts or other records pertaining to the subject matter of such appeal or revision or proceedings or investigation for a period of 1 year after the final disposal of such appeal or revision or proceedings or investigation, or the period as specified above, whichever is later.

4.2.6 Consequences of Non-Compliance

Section 122 of the CGST Act, 2017 provides penalty for certain offences. A registered person supplying exclusively exempted goods or services or both shall have to pay a penalty of Rs. 10,000/- if he fails to keep, maintain or retain books of account and other documents in accordance with the provisions of this Act or the rules made thereunder.

Further, in terms of Article 77 of the Constitution all executive actions of the Government of India shall be expressed to be taken in the name of the President. Therefore, “Central Government” means the President and the officers subordinate to him while exercising the executive powers of the Union vested in the President and in the name of the President.

Therefore, “State Government” means the Governor or the officers subordinate to him who exercise the executive power of the State vested in the Governor and in the name of the Governor.

- Goods should not constitute more than 25% of value of such supply: This is an important condition as it skews the exemption towards supplies which are more by way of service. Since there is no specific formula to compute such percentage, the same may be computed on the basis of ratio arrived at by dividing cost of goods used in the supply to the total cost of the supply. It is important to note that while computing such ratio, the common expenses like interest, administrative expenses etc. may either be ignored or be added to goods and service portion of cost in their respective ratios.

or person, no exemption is available towards the portion of consideration paid by Government.

5.2 Exemptions in case of supplies effected by Government / Municipal Bodies / Government bodies and Organisations

Government is one of the biggest service providers in every nation to its citizens. Some of the services are drawn out of its statutory functions like issuance of visas, birth certificates etc. while, many others are provided for commerce but still at price which is accessible for masses like railways, bus transportation etc. It is important to mention that all services by Government are taxable unless specifically exempt.

The above entries are discussed in greater details hereunder:

I. All activities of Central Government, State Government and Union territory other than the four specified services

All Services provided by Government, being Central Government, State Government or Union territory Government have been exempted except the following four:

- (a) services by the Department of Posts and the Ministry of Railways (Indian Railways). Earlier the restriction was only mentioned when services provided only by the Department of Posts by way of speed post, express parcel post, life insurance, and agency services provided to a person other than the Central Government, State Government, Union territory. However, such restriction has been withdrawn vide Notification No. 4/2022 -Central Tax (Rate), dated 13-Jul-2022, w.e.f. 18-Jul-2022 and inclusion of the Ministry of Railways (Indian Railways) done via Notification No. 13/2023-Central Tax (Rate) dated 19-Oct-2023, w.e.f. 20-Oct-2023. Thus, all services of Department of Posts and the Ministry of Railways (Indian Railways) have become taxable.
- (b) services in relation to an aircraft or a vessel, inside or outside the precincts of a port or an airport;
- (c) transport of goods or passengers; or
- (d) any service, other than services covered under entries (a) to (c) above, provided to business entities.

These services have been made taxable as they are being provided by the Government in sectors where even private players are operating and thus, the Government wants to maintain a level playing field in terms of taxes. Further, services to business entities are not for common good but for commercial reasons and thus, the same have also been made taxable.

It is clarified vide Circular no. 190/02/2023-GST dated 13-Jan-2023 that accommodation services provided by Air Force Mess and other similar messes, such as, Army mess, Navy mess, Paramilitary and Police forces mess to their personnel or any person other than a business entity are covered by Sl. No. 6 of Notification No. 12/2017 – Central Tax (Rate), dated 28-Jun-2017 provided the services supplied by such messes qualify to be considered as services supplied by Central Government, State Government, Union Territory or local authority.

II. Services by Governmental Authority in relation to functions under Articles 243W and 243G

Governmental authority provides support in relation to any function entrusted to a municipality under Article 243W of the Constitution or to a Panchayat under Article 243G of the Constitution. The details of such activities have been discussed earlier in the Guidance Note. These bodies are usually entrusted support functions by the Government or local authority. For e.g. Housing Boards in some States are formed under respective Acts to help Government in construction and welfare activities for poor as they are covered under Article 243W.

A clarification has been issued via Circular No. 228/22/2024 dated 15-Jul-2024, to provide clarity on the GST applicability on statutory collections made by the Real Estate Regulatory Authority (RERA), which is constituted under the Real Estate (Regulation and Development) Act, 2016. RERA performs the function of regulating real estate development and construction activities, which fall under Entry No. 1 and 2 of the Twelfth Schedule of the Indian Constitution. It has been clarified that RERA qualifies as a 'Governmental Authority' under the definition provided in the exemption Notification No. 12/2017-Central Tax (Rate), dated 28-Jun-2017. Therefore, statutory collections made by RERA are exempted from GST.

III. Certain Services by Government or local authority to Business Entities

Following services when provided by government to business entity have been exempted:

- Services provided by a Government or local authority to a business entity with an aggregate turnover of up to such amount as makes it eligible for exemption from registration under the Central Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017 in the preceding financial year. The said exemption shall not be applicable to services by way of renting of immovable property.
- Services provided by Central Government, State Government, Union territory or a local authority where the consideration for such services does not exceed five thousand rupees. It is further provided that in case where continuous supply of service, as defined in sub-section (33) of section 2 of the Central Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017, is provided by the Central Government, State Government, Union territory or a local authority, the exemption shall apply only where the consideration charged for such service does not exceed five thousand rupees in a financial year.

It is important to mention that the above exemptions shall not be applicable to services (i) by the Department of Posts and the Ministry of Railways (Indian Railways); (ii) in relation to an aircraft or a vessel, inside or outside the precincts of a port or an airport; (iii) of transport of goods or passengers.

 - (a) registration required under any law for the time being in force;
 - (b) testing, calibration, safety check or certification relating to protection or safety of workers, consumers or public at large, including fire license, required under any law for the time being in force.

It was clarified vide Circular No. 100/19/2019-GST dated 30-Apr-2019 that charges collected for composite supply of seed testing and certification are exempt and such exemption shall apply to supply of seed tags by seed testing and certification agencies of other states also following similar seed testing and certification procedure.

It was also clarified that State Governments/Seed Certification Agencies may also get tags used in seed certification printed from other departments / manufacturers outside. In such cases, exemption shall not be applicable.

- Services by way of assignment of right to use any natural resource where such right to use was assigned by the Central Government, State Government, Union territory or local authority before the 1st April, 2016. Provided that the exemption shall apply only to tax payable on one-time charges payable, in full upfront or in installments, for assignment of right to use such natural resource.
- Services supplied by Central Government, State Government, Union territory to their undertakings or Public Sector Undertakings (PSUs) by way of guaranteeing the loans taken by such undertakings or PSUs from the banking companies and financial institutions.

It was clarified vide Circular No.154/10/2021-GST dated 17-Jun-2021 that guaranteeing of loans by Central or State Government for their undertaking or PSU is specifically exempt under entry no. 34A.
- Services by way of assignment of right to use natural resources to an individual farmer for cultivation of plants and rearing of all life forms of animals, except the rearing of horses for food, fibre, fuel, raw material or other similar products.
- Services by way of deputing officers after office hours or on holidays for inspection or container stuffing or such other duties in relation to import export cargo on payment of merchant overtime charges.
- Services by way of issuance of passport, visa, driving license, birth certificate or death certificate.

- Services by way of allowing a business entity to operate as a telecom service provider or use radio frequency spectrum during the period prior to the 1st April, 2016, on payment of license fee or spectrum user charges, as the case may be.
- Services supplied by a State Government to Excess Royalty Collection Contractor (ERCC) by way of assigning the right to collect royalty on behalf of the State Government on the mineral dispatched by the mining lease holders. At the end of the contract period, ERCC shall submit an account to the State Government and certify that the amount of goods and services tax deposited by mining lease holders on royalty is more than the goods and services tax exempted on the service provided by State Government to the ERCC of assignment of right to collect royalty and where such amount of goods and services tax paid by mining lease holders is less than the amount of goods and services tax exempted, the exemption shall be restricted to such amount as is equal to the amount of goods and services tax paid by the mining lease holders and the ERCC shall pay the difference between goods and services tax exempted on the service provided by State Government to the ERCC of assignment of right to collect royalty and goods and services tax paid by the mining lease holders on royalty.

IV. Services by one Government to Another

It is possible that one department of Government may supply service to another department or by one Government or local authority to another Government or local authority. Thus, the present exemption covers all such services except services:

- (i) by the Department of Posts and the Ministry of Railways (Indian Railways);
- (ii) in relation to an aircraft or a vessel, inside or outside the precincts of a port or an airport;
- (iii) of transport of goods or passengers.

5.3 Exemptions in case of supplies to/ by Ministry of Railways (Indian Railways)

The Indian Railways, one of the world's largest railway networks, serves as the backbone of transportation in India, carrying millions of passengers and freight across the country daily. Managed by the Ministry of Railways, Indian Railways plays a vital role in the nation's economy, providing affordable and accessible transportation to both individuals and businesses. Over the years, it has contributed significantly to the movement of goods, aiding in trade, commerce, and the overall economic development of the country.

Recognizing the essential nature of Indian Railways in national growth and public welfare, several services related to the railway sector have been granted specific GST exemptions. Various exemptions which shall be discussed in this Chapter are as under:

Handbook on Exempted Supplies under GST

Sl. No.	Chapter, Section, Heading, Group or Service Code (Tariff)	Description of Services
(1)	(2)	(3)
9E	Chapter 99	Services provided by Ministry of Railways (Indian Railways) to individuals by way of - (a) sale of platform tickets (b) facility of retiring rooms/waiting rooms (c) cloak room services (d) battery operated car services
9F	Chapter 99	Services provided by one zone/division under Ministry of Railways (Indian Railways) to another zone(s)/division(s) under Ministry of Railways (Indian Railways).
9G	Chapter 99	Services provided by Special Purpose Vehicles (SPVs) to Ministry of Railways (Indian Railways) by way of allowing Ministry of Railways (Indian Railways) to use the infrastructure built and owned by them during the concession period against consideration and services of maintenance supplied by Ministry of Railways (Indian Railways) to SPVs in relation to the said infrastructure built and owned by the SPVs during the concession period against consideration.

The above entries are discussed in detailed as under-

These exemptions have been inserted via Notification No. 04/2024 Central Tax (Rate), dated 12-Jul-2024 which covers supplies provided by Indian Railways to individuals, as well as services between various divisions under Ministry of Railways services provided by Special Purpose Vehicles (SPVs) to Ministry of Railways (Indian Railways) by way of allowing Ministry of Railways (Indian Railways) to use the infrastructure built and owned by them during the concession period against consideration and services of maintenance supplied by Ministry of Railways (Indian Railways) to SPVs in relation to the said infrastructure built and owned by the SPVs during the concession period against consideration:

- Individual Services: Services supplies by Indian Railways directly to individuals, such as the sale of platform tickets, retiring rooms and waiting rooms facilities, cloakroom services, and battery-operated car services, are exempt from GST.

- Inter-Zone/Division Services: Indian Railways is divided into various zones. These zones are the top-level administrative units and are responsible for managing all railway operations, infrastructure, and services within their respective geographical areas. Further each zone is divided into different divisions and each division handle the day-to-day operations at a more localized level, managing.

Services provided in between by one zone or division to another zone or division are exempted from GST.

- SPV-Related Services: Special Purpose Vehicles (SPVs) are corporate entities incorporated for specific infrastructure or service projects. These SPVs are generally joint ventures between Indian Railways and other Government or private entities. The function of SPVs is to raise funds, manage projects, and execute operations that are not covered in the routine functioning of Indian Railways. SPVs are particularly important for implementing large-scale infrastructure projects, such as the construction of new rail lines, stations, freight corridors, and other critical assets.

Services provided in between SPVs and the Ministry of Railways by way of allowing the use of infrastructure built and owned by the SPVs during the concession period and maintenance services provided by the Ministry of Railways to these SPVs in relation to said infrastructure are exempt from GST.

5.4 Exemptions in case of supplies effected by Charitable Trusts, Religious Institutions/ Organisations and Not for Profit Entities

In India, the organizations which carry out their activities without a profit motive have always been provided various concessions in the form of exemption from taxes or provision of various facilities at concessional rates.

Charitable organizations carry out variety of activities in the spheres of education, health care, environment protection and enhancement etc. Religious trusts normally own religious places like temples etc. Income of such organizations are generally received through voluntary contribution (donation) or contribution for specific purposes. Renting of precincts owned by them is also a common source of their income.

Specific exemption has been granted to certain supplies of services when made by a person to Government and Government bodies. Various exemptions which shall be discussed in this Chapter are as under:

Sl. No.	Description of Services
1	Services by an entity registered under section 12AA or 12AB of the Income-tax Act, 1961 (43 of 1961) by way of charitable activities.

13	Services by a person by way of- (a) conduct of any religious ceremony; (b) renting of precincts of a religious place meant for general public, owned or managed by an entity registered as a charitable or religious trust under section 12AA or 12AB of the Income-tax Act, 1961 (hereinafter referred to as the Income-tax Act) or a trust or an institution registered under sub clause (v) of clause (23C) of section 10 of the Income-tax Act or a body or an authority covered under clause (23BBA) of section 10 of the Income-tax Act: Provided that nothing contained in entry (b) of this exemption shall apply to, - (i) renting of rooms where charges are one thousand rupees or more per day; (ii) renting of premises, community halls, kalyanmandapam or open area, and the like where charges are ten thousand rupees or more per day; (iii) renting of shops or other spaces for business or commerce where charges are ten thousand rupees or more per month.
80	Services by way of training or coaching in - (a) recreational activities relating to arts or culture, by an individual, or (b) sports by charitable entities registered under section 12AA or 12AB of the Income-tax Act.

I. Charitable Activities

There are two requisites for this exemption.

The entity should be registered under section 12AA or 12AB of the Income-tax Act, 1961.

For the aforesaid exemption, the service must be provided by an entity registered under section 12AA or 12AB of Income Tax Act, 1961. Application for registration is required to be made under section 12A of Income Tax Act, 1961 and section 12AA or 12AB of the said Act provides for the procedure of registration of such entities.

Entities registered under section 12AA or 12AB of the Income-tax Act are eligible to claim exemption under the provisions of Income Tax Act, 1961 subject to certain conditions. Under GST, the only condition is that such entity must be registered under section 12AA of the Income-tax Act. If, for any reason, entity is not eligible to avail exemption under Income Tax Act for any assessment year but, it continues to be registered, exemption under GST will continue to be available. Also, exemption will be available on or after the date of registration under section 12AA or 12AB of the Income-tax Act, 1961.

Services should be covered under the ambit of 'charitable activities'

The term 'Charitable activities' has been defined in Notification No. 12/2017 - Central Tax (Rate) dated 28-Jun-2017 thus:

- (r) “charitable activities” means activities relating to -
- (i) public health by way of, -
 - (A) care or counselling of
 - (I) terminally ill persons or persons with severe physical or mental disability;
 - (II) persons afflicted with HIV or AIDS;
 - (III) persons addicted to a dependence-forming substance such as narcotics drugs or alcohol; or
 - (B) public awareness of preventive health, family planning or prevention of HIV infection;
 - (ii) advancement of religion, spirituality or yoga;
 - (iii) advancement of educational programmes or skill development relating to,-
 - (A) abandoned, orphaned or homeless children;
 - (B) physically or mentally abused and traumatized persons;
 - (C) prisoners; or
 - (D) persons over the age of 65 years residing in a rural area;
 - (iv) preservation of environment including watershed, forests and wildlife;

Thus, all activities for charitable purpose in general, are not exempt under GST unless they are covered in the specific definition above. Therefore, many activities with charitable objects may be subjected to GST as they may not fall under the confined parameters of charitable activities as per this notification.

Under the Income Tax Act, income derived from property held under a trust solely for "charitable purpose" is exempt from tax to the extent it is applied or accumulated (as per the provisions of Income Tax Act) for charitable purposes in India. In comparison to the term "charitable purpose" defined under 2(15) of the Income Tax Act, 1961, with that of term "charitable activities" defined in exemption notification under GST, following variances can be drawn:

Income Tax Act	Goods and Services Tax Act
Relief of poor	No such inclusion
Preservation of monuments or places or objects of artistic or historic interest	No such inclusion
Education	Advancement of educational programmes or skill development relating to certain specified class of persons

Medical relief	Activities relating to public health by way of - (A) care or counselling of persons with certain specified ailment (B) public awareness of preventive health, family planning or prevention of HIV infection
Advancement of any other object of general public utility subject to certain conditions and monetary limits	No such residual entry. Specific inclusion of advancement of religion, spirituality or yoga.

From the above comparison, it is evident that the definition of "charitable activities" in the exemption notification under GST is very narrow in scope as compared to the definition under Income Tax Act. Therefore, all the activities carried out by an entity, availing exemption under Income Tax Act, are not compulsorily exempt under GST. The activities have to be examined considering the definition of charitable activities, as to whether they can be classified as any of the activities specified therein or not and the exemption should be availed only if they are falling under the limited scope of activities defined as charitable activities.

Comparison with erstwhile laws

This entry is similar to Service Tax exemption as provided vide Entry No. 6 of Notification No. 25/2012-ST dated 20-Jun-2012.

Examples

- (a) X charitable trust (registered under section 12AA of Income Tax Act, 1961) is providing educational services to orphaned children.
- (b) Shri Sanstha (registered under section 12AA of Income Tax Act, 1961) is providing counselling services to alcohol addicted persons.

II. Conduct of religious ceremonies

Scope of this exemption entry covers:

- Service provided by - any person
- Nature of service provided - Conduct of religious ceremony
- Condition or threshold limit for exemption - No condition or limit

The significant term in this entry is 'religious ceremony'. This term has not been defined under the erstwhile Service Tax Law or under GST Act, but according to a CBEC's Education guide, 'religious ceremonies are life-cycle rituals including special religious poojas conducted in terms of religious texts by a person so authorized by such religious texts. Occasions like birth, marriage and death involve elaborate religious ceremonies.

Also, all incomes from religious ceremonies are not exempt. During the course of a religious ceremony, if services other than by way of conduct of religious ceremony are provided, such services are not exempt.

III. Renting of precincts of a religious place meant for general public

The term 'Religious place' has been defined to mean a place which is primarily meant for conduct of prayers or worship pertaining to a religion, meditation, or spirituality. Thus, renting of precincts of such place has been exempted. The word 'precincts' has not been defined under the Act. However, CBEC had clarified vide Circular No. 200/10/2016-Service Tax dated 06-Sep-2016, that the word "Precincts" should be interpreted to consider all immovable property of the religious place located within the outer boundary wall of the complex (of building and facilities) in which religious place is located, as being located in the precincts of the religious place. The immovable property located in the immediate vicinity and surrounding the religious place and owned by the religious place or under the same management as the religious place may be considered as being located in the precincts of religious place.

For this exemption, the precincts of such religious place should be owned or managed by:

- a charitable or religious trust under 12AA or 12AB of Income Tax Act, 1961.
- a trust or an institution registered under section 10(23C)(v) of the Income-tax Act or
- a body or an authority covered under section 10(23BBA) of the said Income-tax Act.

It is important to note here that the above exemption of renting of precincts of a religious place is not applicable where:

- Charges by way of room rent are Rs. 1,000 or more per day.
- Charges for renting of premises, community halls, kalyanamandapam or open area etc. are Rs. 10,000 or more per day.
- Charges for renting of shops or commercial spaces are Rs. 10,000 or more per month.

Examples

- (a) Shri Jagdish Ji, a priest, charged Rs. 21,000/- from Mr. X for carrying out the rituals of his marriage ceremony.

This is exempt under clause (a) of Entry 13 of Notification No. 12/2017- Central Tax (Rate).

- (b) Rent of Rs. 9,000 charged for letting out community hall in a temple premises for a convention to a business organization.

This is exempt under clause (b) of Entry 13 of Notification No. 12/2017- Central Tax (Rate).

- (c) Rent of Rs. 8,000 charged for letting out shops outside the temple in the area under management of trust managing the temple.

This is exempt under clause (b) of Entry 13 of Notification No. 12/2017- Central Tax (Rate).

IV. Training or Coaching in Recreational Activities or Sports

Services by way of training or coaching in recreational activities relating to arts or culture by an individual and services by way of training or coaching in sports by charitable entities registered under section 12AA or 12AB of the Income Tax Act are exempt.

5.5 Exemptions in case of Associations and Clubs

Clubs or associations are established in different forms of organizations. They may be registered as a society under Societies Registration Act or as a trust or as a company under Section 25 of Companies Act, 2013. A society is the most common form of organization opted by associations or clubs. The bye laws of the organization provide the manner and procedure of enrolment of members and objects of the association. The clubs or associations generally provide different types of services, some of which are:

- Sports facilities
- Organization of events or tournaments
- Renting of mandap, banquets or grounds for events
- Facility of library, conference hall etc.
- Short term accommodation facilities
- Supply of food and drinks at restaurants

Concept of Mutuality and GST

From a combined reading of Section 7 and definition of business as provided in CGST Act, it is clear that provision of facilities or benefits by clubs or associations is business but the question, whether provision of an activity, which is covered under the definition of business, by a person to himself will be considered as supply or the principle of mutuality will hold, is still unanswered.

Since the expression 'supply' does not warrant provision of supply by a person to another person, it can be interpreted that provision of an activity by a person covered in the definition of business will be considered as a supply. Also, the notifications issued by the Government indicate an intent that services provided by such associations have to be considered as supply and chargeable to tax as per provisions of the Act.

Supply of goods by clubs or associations

Schedule II to CGST Act deals with activities or transactions to be treated as supply of goods or supply of services. Para 7 to Schedule II specifically provides as under:

“The following shall be treated as supply of goods, namely:—

Supply of goods by any unincorporated association or body of persons to a member thereof for cash, deferred payment or other valuable consideration.”

In view of the above, supply of goods or services by associations or clubs to its members are covered under the ambit of supply for levy of GST.

However, Para 7 has been omitted retrospectively w.e.f. 01-Jul-2017 by the Finance Act, 2021. The Government has also amended Section 7 of the CGST Act to introduce a specific clause(1)(aa) to provide for deemed taxability of transaction between members and association inter-se. The relevant entry as introduced w.e.f. 1-Jul-2017 is as follows –

- (aa) the activities or transactions, by a person, other than an individual, to its members or constituents or vice versa, for cash, deferred payment or other valuable consideration.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this clause, it is hereby clarified that, notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force or any judgment, decree or order of any Court, tribunal or authority, the person and its members or constituents shall be deemed to be two separate persons and the supply of activities or transactions inter se shall be deemed to take place from one such person to another;

Having discussed the taxability, we shall now discuss the exemptions given to associations.

Sl. No.	Chapter, Section, Heading, Group or Service Code (Tariff)	Description of Services

Analysis

(a) Trade unions

Service provided by any non-profit entity to its members by way of reimbursement of charges or share of contribution as a trade union is exempt from tax. Under the exemption notification under GST, trade union is defined thus:

(zzn) "trade union" has the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (h) of section 2 of the Trade Unions Act, 1926 (16 of 1926);

As per section 2(h) of the Trade Unions Act, 1926 (16 of 1926), "Trade Union" means any combination, whether temporary or permanent, formed primarily for the purpose of regulating the relations between workmen and employers or between workmen and workmen, or between employers and employers, or for imposing restrictive conditions on the conduct of any trade or business, and includes any Federation of two or more Trade Unions.

(b) Contribution from members for an exempt activity

Reimbursements or share of contribution collected by such entities from their members, for provision of carrying out any activity which in itself is exempt from the levy of Goods and service Tax, are also exempt from GST by virtue of this entry of the notification.

(c) Resident Welfare Associations (RWAs)

The management of residential societies is generally in the hands of co-operative housing societies. As an alternate of forming a society, in some places, Resident Welfare Associations are formed for group of buildings. The services provided by the RWAs include organizing supply of electricity and water, cleaning of common areas, maintenance and upkeep of the building, payment of municipal taxes etc.

The association raises contributions from all the members to provide these facilities. The contribution is generally decided in the meetings of the association. Residential complex has been defined under the exemption notification as under:

(zzb) "residential complex" means any complex comprising of a building or buildings, having more than one single residential unit;

In respect of such exemption under Service tax regime, CBEC had clarified, vide Circular No. 175/01 /2014 – ST, dated 10-Jan-2014, that if per month per member contribution of any or some members of a RWA exceeds five thousand rupees, the entire contribution of such members whose per month contribution exceeds five thousand rupees would be ineligible for the exemption under the said notification. Service tax would then be leviable on the aggregate amount of monthly contribution of such members.

The same issue has also been clarified in GST vide Circular No. 109/28/2019-GST dated 22-Jul-2019. It states that if the contribution of any member exceeds INR 7500 per month per member, then the entire contribution of such member would be ineligible for exemption under GST. As per general business sense, a person who owns two or more residential apartments in a housing society or a residential complex shall normally be a member of the RWA for each residential apartment owned by him separately. The ceiling of Rs. 7500/- per month per member shall be applied separately for each residential apartment owned by him.

It is also important to note that this exemption covers only such services by the housing society or a body of the residential complex, which are provided for the common use of its members. Thus, if any service is provided by such body on individual basis on payment of fee, such service would not be exempt. For example, when security is made available on individual request by members, it would not be exempt.

Requirement of registration for housing societies/RWAs

An important question that arises is if an RWA provides certain services such as payment of electricity or water bill issued by third person, for its members, is exclusion from value of supply available for the purposes of computation of aggregate turnover for purpose of registration or ITC reversal?

Section 2(6) of Central Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017 defines 'aggregate turnover' as:

(6) "aggregate turnover" means the aggregate value of all taxable supplies (excluding the value of inward supplies on which tax is payable by a person on reverse charge basis), exempt supplies, exports of goods or services or both and inter-State supplies of persons having the same Permanent Account Number, to be computed on all India basis but excludes central tax, State tax, Union territory tax, integrated tax and cess;

It means the amount of exempt supplies is also included in the aggregate turnover.

Some common issues are tabulated hereunder:

Issue	Suggestion
Case I : Where an electricity bill is raised in the name of the member in respect of electricity consumed by him and payment is collected and paid by the RWA to the utility without charging any other consideration.	RWA is acting as a pure agent; the amount collected for payment of such bill can be excluded from the value of supply.
Case II : Electricity bill is issued in the name of RWA, in respect of electricity consumed for common use of lifts, motor pumps for water supply, lights in common area etc.	Since there is no agency involved, exclusion from value of supply would not be available. Note : This poses an issue that RWA would have to be registered if aggregate turnover including such exempt supplies exceeds Rs. 20 lakhs and the RWA would not be eligible for ITC in respect of inputs, input services or capital goods in respect of such exempt supplies.

A. Comparison with erstwhile law

The first two clauses of this exemption entry in respect of trade union and provision of carrying out any activity which is exempt from the levy of tax, are similar to exemption in service tax as provided under Entry No. 28 of Notification No. 25/2012-ST dated 20-Jun-2012.

Although, services of RWA were exempt up to an amount of INR 5,000 per month per month in service tax the limit has been extended to INR 7500 per month per member under GST.

In pre-GST period, ITC of Central Excise and VAT paid on goods and capital goods was not available and these were costs to the RWA, but under GST, RWAs will be entitled to ITC in respect of taxes paid by them on capital goods, inputs and input services.

B. Examples

Service provided by an RWA by way of -

- Payment of electricity bills in the name of its members or in the name of RWA for common area
- Provision of facility of cleaning or security services for common use of members are exempt under Entry 77 of Notification No. 12/2017 - Central Tax (Rate), subject to threshold of Rs. 7500 per month per member. This is also clarified vide Circular No. 109/28/2019-GST dated 23-Jul-2019.

Services provided by an unincorporated body or a non-profit entity registered under any law for the time being in force to its own members against consideration in the form of membership fee upto an amount of one thousand rupees (Rs. 1,000) per member per year.

Conditions to be met to avail the exemptions

1. The maximum limit of consideration is Rs. 1,000 if the amount of consideration is more than Rs. 1,000/- then the exemption will not be applicable.
2. The amount has to be collected from the members of the entity and not from the non-members or the general public.
3. The entity should be engaged in any of the following activities: -
 - (i) activities relating to the welfare of industrial labour;
 - (ii) activities relating to welfare of agricultural labour;
 - (iii) activities relating to welfare of farmers;

- (iv) promotion of trade, commerce, industry, agriculture, art, science, literature, culture, sports, education, social welfare, charitable activities and protection of environment.

5.6 Exemptions in case of Education and Allied Services

"Education" is not defined in the CGST Act but as per Supreme Court decision in Sole Trustee, Loka Shikshana Trust v. CIT [1975] 101 ITR 234, education is the process of training and developing knowledge, skill mind and character of students by normal schooling. Education in its general sense is a form of learning in which knowledge, skills and habits of a group of people are transferred from one generation to the next through teaching, training or research. Any experience that has a formative effect on the way one thinks or acts may be considered as education.

Taxing the Education Sector has always been a sensitive issue, as education is seen more as a social activity than a business one. The Government has a constitutional obligation to provide free and compulsory elementary education to every child. Thus, to promote education, it would be beneficial if educational services are exempt from tax. However, commercialization of education is also a reality. The distinction between core and ancillary education is blurring and education is now an organized industry with huge revenues. The GST Act tries to maintain a fine balance whereby core educational services provided and received by educational institutions are exempt and other services are sought to be taxed.

We shall now discuss the above entries in detail hereunder:

I. Exemption to services to or by Educational Institution

Following services are exempt as provided in Entry 66 of the exemption Notification-

a. By an educational institution to its students, faculty and staff;

In relation to this exemption entry, the following terms have been defined in the aforesaid exemption notification:

- (y) “educational institution” means an institution providing services by way of,-
- (i) pre-school education and education up to higher secondary school or equivalent;
 - (ii) education as a part of a curriculum for obtaining a qualification recognised by any law for the time being in force;
 - (iii) education as a part of an approved vocational education course;
- (h) “approved vocational education course” means, -
- (i) a course run by an industrial training institute or an industrial training centre affiliated to the National Council for Vocational Education and Training or State Council for Vocational Training offering courses in designated trades notified under the Apprentices Act, 1961 (52 of 1961); or
 - (ii) a Modular Employable Skill Course, approved by the National Council of Vocational Education and Training, run by a person registered with the Directorate General of Training, Ministry of Skill Development and Entrepreneurship;

It is pertinent to note that the entry does not specify the nature of services provided by an educational institution. Thus, all the services provided by an educational institution to its students, faculty and staff are exempt under GST.

Meaning of “education as a part of curriculum for obtaining a qualification recognized by law”

It means that only such educational services are in the exemption list as are related to delivery of education as 'a part' of the curriculum that has been prescribed for obtaining a qualification prescribed by law. It is important to understand that to be in the exemption list the service should be delivered as part of curriculum. Conduct of degree courses by colleges, universities or institutions which lead to the grant of qualifications recognized by law would be covered. Training given by private coaching institutes would not be covered as such training does not lead to grant of a recognized qualification.

b. By an educational institution by way of conduct of entrance examination

Exemption has been granted to services by an educational institution by way of conduct of entrance examination against consideration in the form of entrance fee. Entrance fee charged from prospective students is exempt under GST. It was also clarified vide Circular No. 151/07/2021-GST dated 17-Jun-2021 that National Board of Examination is an 'Educational Institution' in so far as it provides services by way of conduct of examination, including any entrance examination, to the students. Therefore, GST shall not apply to any fee or any amount charged by such Boards for conduct of such examinations including entrance examinations.

Further, it was clarified that GST is also exempt on input services relating to admission to, or conduct of examination, such as online testing service, result publication, printing of notification for examination, admit card and questions papers etc, when provided to such Boards.

Furthermore, it was clarified that GST @ 18% applies to other services provided by such Boards, namely of providing accreditation to an institution or to a professional (accreditation fee or registration fee such as fee for FMGE screening test) so as to authorise them to provide their respective services.

Additionally, a new explanation has also been inserted via Notification No. 01/2023 Central Tax (Rate), dated 28-Feb-2023, which clarifies that "Any authority, board, or body set up by the Central Government or State Government, including the National Testing Agency, for the conduct of entrance examinations for admission to educational institutions, shall be treated as an educational institution for the limited purpose of providing services by way of conducting entrance examinations for admission to educational institutions."

c. Services provided to an educational institution

Following services provided to an educational institution are exempt:

- (i) transportation of students, faculty and staff;
- (ii) catering, including any mid-day meals scheme sponsored by the Central Government, State Government or Union territory;
- (iii) security or cleaning or house-keeping services performed in such educational institution;
- (iv) services relating to admission to, or conduct of examination by, such institution;
- (v) supply of online educational journals or periodicals;

Scope of exemption for services provided to an educational institution is limited in comparison to the exemption for services provided by them, as the nature of services covered under such exemption has been specified. Broadly, the services covered are transportation, catering, security, cleaning or house-keeping, admission or examination related services, supply of online journals.

Food provided by educational institutions in their premises

Circular No.28/02/2018-GST [F.NO.354/03/2018], dated 8-Jan-2018, as corrected by Circular No.28/02/2018-GST, dated 18-Jan-2018, has clarified as under:

- 2.1 If the catering services is one of the services provided by an educational institution to its students, faculty and staff and the said educational institution is covered by the definition given under para 2(y) of Notification No. 12/2017-Central Tax (Rate), then the same is exempt. [Sl. No. 66(a) of Notification No. 12/2017-Central Tax (Rate) refers]
- 2.2 If the catering services, i.e., supply of food or drink in a mess or canteen, is provided by anyone other than the educational institution, then it is a supply of service at entry 7(i) of Notification No. 11/2017-CT(R) to the concerned educational institution and attracts GST of 5% provided that credit of input tax charged on goods and services used in supplying the service has not been taken, effective from 15-Nov-2017.

Also, in a Press Release dated 11-Apr-2018, it has been clarified that:

- i. GST rate on supply of food and drinks in a mess or canteen in an educational institution attracts GST at 5% without Input Tax Credit (ITC).
- ii. If schools up to higher secondary level supply food directly to students, then the same are exempt from GST.

Hostel Services provided to Students

In the press release dated 13-Jul-2017, the Board has clarified that services of lodging/boarding in hostels provided by such educational institutions which are providing pre-school education and education up to higher secondary school or equivalent or education leading to a qualification recognised by law, are fully exempt from GST. Annual subscription/ fees charged as lodging/boarding charges by such educational institutions from its students for hostel accommodation shall not attract GST.

The CBIC in e-version of GST Flyers on education services has discussed that boarding schools provide service of education coupled with other services like providing dwelling units for residence and food. This may be a case of bundled services if the charges for education and lodging and boarding are inseparable. Their taxability will be determined in terms of the principles laid down in section 2(30) read with section 8 of the CGST Act, 2017 (i.e. composite supply). Such services in the case of boarding schools are naturally bundled and supplied in the ordinary course of business. Therefore, the bundle of services will be treated as consisting of the principal supply, which means the service which forms the predominant element of such a bundle. In this case, since the predominant nature is determined by the service of education, the other service of providing residential dwelling will not be considered for the purpose of determining the tax liability and in this case the entire consideration for the supply will be exempt.

Applicability of GST on the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) approved flying training courses conducted by Flying Training Organizations approved by the DGCA

Circular 234/28/2024-GST dated 11-Oct-2024 clarified that the approved flying training courses conducted by FTOs approved by DGCA wherein the DGCA mandates the requirement of a completion certificate, are covered under Sl.No.66 of Notification No.12/2017-CT (R) dated 28-Jun-2024 and are hence, exempt.

d. Conditions for the above exemptions

The aforesaid exemption for services provided to an education institution are subject to the following conditions:

- Services covered in clause (i), (ii) and (iii) above are not applicable to educational institutions other than those providing services by way of pre-school education and education up to higher secondary school or equivalent.

This means that the exemption for said services is applicable only where such services are provided to schools.

- Exemption for supply of online education journals or periodicals is not applicable to institutions providing services by way of-
 - (i) pre-school education and education up to higher secondary school or equivalent; or
 - (ii) education as a part of an approved vocational education course.

This means that such exemption is applicable only for supply to institutions providing services by way of education as a part of a curriculum for obtaining a qualification recognised by any law for the time being in force.

Examples:

1. Modern School has charged Rs. 2,000 per student for a summer tour organized by the school. Such services are exempt.
2. Transportation services provided to a college for transportation of its students.
Such services are taxable because such services are exempt only when provided to schools.

II. Analysis of entry no. 66A of the Exemption Notification

Service of affiliation, provided to schools by Central or State educational boards or councils or other similar bodies, by whatever name called, are taxable. However, affiliation service provided by Central and State educational boards or Councils, or other similar bodies, by whatever name called, to Government schools i.e., schools established owned or controlled by the Central Government, State Government, Union Territory, local authority, Governmental authority or Government entity has been exempted w.e.f. 10-Oct-2024 vide Notification No.08/2024-CT(R) dated 08-Oct-2024.

Circular No. 234/28/2024-GST dated 11-Oct-2024 clarified that the activity of affiliation is to monitor and ensure whether the institution possesses the required infrastructure in terms of space, technical prowess, financial liquidity, faculty strength etc. and is thereby eligible for the privileges to conduct the course/program of study or the degree/title extended by the University to the students enrolled in such institutions. The affiliation services provided by the universities to colleges are not by way of services related to the admission of students to such colleges or the conduct of examinations by such colleges. Thus, such affiliation services are not covered within the ambit of exemptions provided to educational institutions in the Notification No.12/2017-CT(R) dated 28-Jun-2017 and attracts GST@ 18%.

III. Analysis of entry no. 67 of the Exemption Notification

Services provided by the Indian Institutes of Management, as per the guidelines of the Central Government, to their students, by way of the following educational programmes, except Executive Development Programme :-

- (b) fellow programme in Management;
- (c) five-year integrated programme in Management.

However, the said exemption has been withdrawn by Notification No. 28/2018-CT(R), dated 31-Dec-2018, w.e.f. 1-Jan-2019.

IV. Analysis of entry no. 69 of the Exemption Notification

However, Notification No. 8/2024- CT(R) dt. 08-Oct-2024 has substituted this entry with effect from 10-Oct-2024. Now, with effect from 10-Oct-2024, any services provided by the National Skill Development Corporation set up by the Government of India, National Council for Vocational Education and Training, an Awarding Body recognized by the National Council for Vocational Education and Training, an Assessment Agency recognized by the National Council for Vocational Education and Training, a Training Body accredited with an Awarding Body that is recognized by National Council for Vocational Education and Training, in relation to-

- i) the National Skill Development Programme or any other scheme implemented by the National Skill Development Corporation; or
- ii) a vocational skill development course under the National Skill Certification and Monetary Reward Scheme; or
- iii) any National Skill Qualification Framework aligned qualification or skill in respect of which the National Council for Vocational Education and Training has approved a qualification package.

are exempt under GST.

The exemption earlier provided for skilling services provided by Training Partners approved by the National Skill Development Corporation (NSDC) was withdrawn by this notification.

After this amendment, the Ministry of Skill Development and Entrepreneurship raised concerns that the removal of the exemption for National Skill Development Corporation - approved Training Partners would negatively affect the skilling ecosystem. In response, during its 55th meeting, the GST Council recommended reinstating the earlier exemption for National Skill Development Corporation - approved Training Partners. This exemption was reinstated through Notification No. 06/2025-CT(R) dated 16-Jan-2025.

As per Circular No. 245/02/2025-GST, dated 28-01-2025, the revised exemption now applies only to skilling services provided by Training Bodies accredited with an Awarding Body recognized by National Council for Vocational Education and Training.

Further it is clarified that the GST Council has regularized the payment of GST for services provided by National Skill Development Corporation - approved Training Partners during the period between 10-Oct-2024 and 15-Jan-2025, where these services were exempt before 10-Oct-2024. This regularization is done on an 'as is where is' basis, meaning it will be handled based on the conditions as they existed during that period.

V. Analysis of entry no. 70 of the Exemption Notification

Services of assessing bodies which are formed by the Directorate General of Training, Ministry of Skill Development and Entrepreneurship by way of assessments under the Skill Development Initiative Scheme.

VI. Analysis of entry no. 71 of the Exemption Notification

Services provided by training providers (Project implementation agencies) under Deen Dayal Upadhyaya Grameen Kaushalya Yojana (DDU-GKY) implemented by the Ministry of Rural Development, Government of India by way of offering skill or vocational training courses certified by the National Council for Vocational Training. However, Notification No. 08/2024-Central Tax (Rate) has substituted the word 'National Council for Vocational Training' with the words 'National Council for Vocational Education and Training'. With effect from 10-Oct-2024, the skill or vocational training courses needs to be certified by National Council for Vocational Education and Training.

There are several challenges preventing India's rural poor from competing in the modern market, such as the lack of formal education and marketable skills. DDU-GKY bridges this gap by funding training projects benchmarked to global standards, with an emphasis on placement, retention, career progression and foreign placement. All the courses should be certified by the National Council for Vocational Training.

"Approved Vocational education course" means:

- (i) A course run by an industrial training institute or an industrial training centre affiliated to the National Council for Vocational Education and Training or State Council for Vocational Training offering courses in designated trades notified under the Apprentices Act, 1961 (52 of 1961); or
- (ii) a Modular Employable Skill Course, approved by the National Council of Vocational Education and Training, run by a person registered with the Directorate General of Training, Ministry of Skill Development and Entrepreneurship

Therefore, hospitals also provide healthcare services. Health care services are exempt from tax when provided by:

However, a proviso has been inserted which provides that exemption shall not be applicable when services are provided by a clinical establishment by way of providing room [other than Intensive Care Unit (ICU)/Critical Care Unit (CCU)/Intensive Cardiac Care Unit (ICCU)/Neo natal Intensive Care Unit (NICU)] having room charges exceeding Rs. 5000 per day to a person receiving health care services. Such services have been made taxable @ 5% vide Notification No. 3/2022-Central Tax (Rate) dated 13-Jul-2022 provided that the credit of input tax charged on goods and services used in supplying the service has not been availed.

It was clarified vide Circular No. 51/25/2018-GST dated 31-Jul-2018, that ambulance services are an activity in relation to the functions entrusted to Panchayats and Municipalities under Articles 243G and 243W of the Constitution and thus clarification contained in the Circular No. 210/2/2018- Service Tax dated 30-May-2018 in respect of the services provided by Government and Private Services Providers (PSPs) by way of transportation of patients in an ambulance is applicable for the purpose of GST also as the said services are specifically exempt under Notification No. 12/2017- Central Tax (Rate) dated 28-Jun-2017 vide Sl. What is GTA and how is it different from Goods Transport Operator?

The speech of the Union Finance Minister when the GTA was brought into tax net, specifically clarified vide Para 149 that the intent was to levy tax on Transport agent and not to tax the truck operators/owners.

The issue was settled in the case C.C.E. & C., Guntur v. Kanaka Durga Agro Oil Products Pvt. Ltd. 2009 (15) S.T.R. 399 (Tri. - Bang.) where it was held that Service tax paid for services of individual truck operators is not liable on the basis of clarification given by Finance Minister and interpretation of the definition "agent". However, this judgement did not discuss the concept of "any person" in the definition of "Goods Transport Agency" being provided specifically.

However, there was a contrary decision rendered in case of C.C.E., Salem v. Suibramania Siva Co-Op. Sugar Mills Ltd. (2014) 35 S.T.R. 500 (Mad.) where the Madras High Court held that "any person" would cover all kinds of persons which also covers individual truck owners and also held that speech of Finance Minister cannot be taken in aid for understanding the scope of the clear terms of the provisions in the taxation laws.

Thus, the issue whether truck owners or operators (in case they issue a consignment note) would attract levy of GST for transportation of goods by road, is open to question.

Services provided by Individual Truck Operators

A single truck owner-operator is plying his truck mostly between States, carrying goods booked for his truck by an agent; the aggregate value of service provided by him exceeded twenty lakh rupees during a financial year. The truck owner is not liable to registration, as services provided by way of transportation of goods by road are exempt.

Registration is also not required in case of services by way of giving on hire. Transportation of goods to a GTA is exempt from tax vide entry no. 22 of Notification No. 12/2017-Central Tax (Rate) dated 28-Jun-2017.

Whether ancillary services of GTA constitute “different services”?

The GTA provides service to a person in relation to transportation of goods by road in a goods carriage, which is a composite service. The composite service may include various intermediary and ancillary services, such as, loading/unloading, packing/unpacking, transshipment and temporary warehousing, which are provided in the course of transport of goods by road. These services are not provided as independent services but as ancillary to the principal service, namely, transportation of goods by road. The invoice issued by the GTA for providing the said service includes the value of intermediary and ancillary services. In view of this, if any intermediary and ancillary service is provided in relation to transportation of goods by road, and charges, if any, for such services are included in the invoice issued by the GTA, such service would form part of the GTA service and would not be treated as a separate supply. In fact, any service provided along with the GTA service that is part of the composite service of GTA shall be taxed along with GTA service and not as separate supplies. However, if such incidental services are provided as separate services and charged separately, whether in the same invoice or separate invoices, they shall be treated as separate supplies.

VIII. Transportation of goods by GTA to unregistered persons

Services provided by a goods transport agency to an unregistered person, including an unregistered casual taxable person, other than the following recipients are exempt from tax:

- (a) any factory registered under or governed by the Factories Act, 1948 (63 of 1948); or
- (b) any Society registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 (21 of 1860) or under any other law for the time being in force in any part of India; or
- (c) any Co-operative Society established by or under any law for the time being in force; or
- (d) any body corporate established, by or under any law for the time being in force; or
- (e) any partnership firm whether registered or not under any law including association of persons;
- (f) any casual taxable person registered under the Central Goods and Services Tax Act or the Integrated Goods and Services Tax Act or the State Goods and Services Tax Act or the Union Territory Goods and Services Tax Act.

Prior to 13-Oct-2017, GTAs were liable to pay GST on the service provided to unregistered persons. This was creating lot of workload and inconvenience to GTAs. Therefore, exemption was given to GTAs for the service provided to unregistered persons.

Example:

Export freight charged by ABC Shipping Line (India) for transportation of goods by vessel from India to Canada.

IX. Services by GTA to specified Central Govt. / State Govt. / Local Authority / Government Agencies

The fact that services provided by goods transport agency to unregistered persons is exempt has already been discussed above. However, there are certain departments of the government or local authority or Government agencies which are not otherwise registered for making taxable supplies but due to the provisions of TDS under the GST law. The provisions of TDS as per Section 51 require certain category of persons to take registration and deduct TDS under the GST law. Quite a number of Departments of Central Government and State Government, local authority and Government agencies get covered within this. These persons only possess TDS registration but not the normal registration under GST. Any services provided by GTA to these persons will be exempted.

Example: Ministry of Commerce which has taken registration for the purpose of deducting tax as per the provisions of Section 51, takes the services of a goods transport agency for transportation of construction materials to its site for renovation of its building. Such services by GTAs will stand exempted.

X. Service by way of access to a road or a bridge on payment of toll charges.

No GST has been levied on the road or bridge on which toll charges are to be paid by the person passing through such toll.

In BOT (Toll) projects, part of the cost is borne by a private person. NHA collects toll for the usage of road or bridge.

XI. Service by way of access to a road or a bridge on payment of annuity.

This exemption has been withdrawn vide Notification No. 15/2022 -Central Tax (Rate), dated 30-Dec-2022, w.e.f. 01-Jan-2023. Earlier it covered following supplies:

BOT (Annuity) projects provide that all the costs are borne by the Government in the form of deferred budgetary payments. In BOT-Annuity, the developer constructs the road, maintains it and gets fixed payment from the Government.

No GST has been levied on the road or bridge on which annuity charges have to be paid by the person passing through the road.

It was clarified vide Circular No. 150/06/2021-GST dated 17-Jun-2021 that Entry 23A of Notification No.12/2017-CT(R) does not exempt GST on the annuity (deferred payments) paid for construction of roads.

I. Exemption to Services by way of Renting of Residential Dwelling for use as Residence

Renting in relation to immovable property means allowing, permitting or granting access, entry, occupation, use or any such facility, wholly or partly, in an immovable property, with or without the transfer of possession or control of the said immovable property and includes letting, leasing, licensing or other similar arrangements in respect of immovable property.

The phrase 'residential dwelling' has not been defined in the exemption notification. However, in normal trade parlance it shall include all residential accommodation other than hotel, hotel inn, guest house, camp-site, lodge, houseboat, or like places which are meant for temporary stay. Thus, service of renting of any such property when used by a person for his residence, shall be exempt. However, such an exemption shall not apply when a residential dwelling is rented to a registered person for commercial purposes. These services are treated as commercial activities, and the exemption typically available for residential rentals does not extend to them. The exception has been added vide Notification No. 4/2022 -Central Tax (Rate), dated 13-Jul-2022, w.e.f. 18-Jul-2022. The provision of accommodation services related to student residences, hostels, camps, paying guest accommodations, etc., has been removed from Serial No. 12 of the exemption notifications, as they are now covered under the new Serial No. 12A of the exemption notification. Serial No. 12A has been inserted by Notification No. 4/2024-CT(R) dated 12-Jul-2024 w.e.f. 15-Jul-2024.

Explanation 1 has been inserted vide Notification No. 15/2022 -Central Tax (Rate), dated 30-Dec-2022, w.e.f. 1-Jan-2023, which provides as follows:

For the purpose of exemption under this entry, this entry shall cover services by way of renting of residential dwelling to a registered person where, –

- (i) the registered person is proprietor of a proprietorship concern and rents the residential dwelling in his personal capacity for use as his own residence; and
- (ii) such renting is on his own account and not that of the proprietorship concern.

Further explanation 2 has also been inserted via Notification No. 04/2024 -Central Tax (Rate), dated 12-Jul-2024 w.e.f. 15-Jul-2024 which specifically provides that noting in this entry shall apply to-

- i) accommodation services for students in student residences;
- ii) accommodation services provided by Hostels, Camps, Paying Guest accommodations and the like

Property partly used for commercial purpose

If a residential dwelling is rented for a single price to another person, such supply shall be determined in accordance with Section 8 of the CGST Act and shall be considered as a mixed supply and thus, full amount shall be exigible to GST.

II. Exemption to Accommodation Services for minimum continuous period of 90 days.

A new entry 12A has been inserted via Notification No. 04/2024 -Central Tax (Rate), dated 12-Jul-2024 applicable w.e.f. 15-Jul-2024 to exempt accommodation services having value of supply less than or equal to Rs. 20,000 per person per month with a condition that the accommodation service is supplied for a minimum continuous period of 90 days.

III. Exemption to Services of low-cost Hotels, camps etc.

In order to keep the services of temporary accommodation accessible to masses, exemption has been granted to services of low-cost Hotel, inn, guest house, club or campsite, or any other place which offers services of residential or lodging purposes and is having value of supply of a unit of accommodation below one thousand rupees per day or equivalent. It is important to note that the value of supply should be considered as for a complete day and thus, if a room is given for part of day, the amount should be considered proportionately. However, this exemption has been omitted by Notification No. 4/2022 -Central Tax (Rate), dated 13-Jul-2022, w.e.f. 18-Jul-2022.

IV. Exemption to Public libraries

Exemption has been given to services of public libraries by way of lending of books, publications or any other knowledge-enhancing content or material. Thus, such libraries need not charge GST from their members and students benefiting from their services.

V. Exemption to Public Conveniences

Exemption has been given to services by way of public conveniences such as provision of facilities of bathroom, washrooms, lavatories, urinal or toilets. The aim is to keep value of services of such conveniences low by exempting from GST.

VI. Exemption to Acquiring Bank

As exemption entry 34 applies specifically to services rendered by acquiring banks, which are institutions responsible for facilitating card-based transactions for merchants.

The provision focuses on transactions involving an amount of up to Rs. 2,000 in a single transaction when such payments are made through various types of payment cards—like credit cards, debit cards, charge cards, or any similar payment card — services provided by the acquiring bank related to settling these payments are exempt from GST. This essentially means that if a cardholder uses any of the specified cards to make a single transaction of Rs. 2,000 or less, the acquiring bank that processes this payment does not have to pay GST on the service it provides in facilitating the transaction.

In the explanation section, the term "acquiring bank" is clarified. It refers not just to commercial banks but also to financial institutions, including non-banking financial companies (NBFCs), or any other entity involved in making payments to the merchant who accepts the card for payment. These institutions or entities play a key role in the transaction process by transferring funds from the cardholder's bank to the merchant's bank, ensuring that the merchant receives the correct amount.

This exemption is aimed at promoting the ease of digital payments for small transactions, helping to reduce the financial burden on both merchants and banks for low-value transactions. It encourages the use of electronic payments, particularly for small-ticket transactions, which can help in reducing the reliance on cash.

Pursuant to the 55th GST Council meeting, Circular No. 245/02/2025-GST dated 28-Jan-2025 has clarified that GST exemption under Sl. No. 34 of Notification No. 12/2017-CT(R) dated 28-Jun-2017 is available to RBI regulated Payment Aggregators (PAs) in relation to settlement of an amount, up to two thousand rupees in a single transaction, transacted through credit card, debit card, charge card or other payment card services, as PAs fall within the definition of 'acquiring bank' given in the Explanation to the said exemption entry.

According to Clause 8 of the RBI's Guidelines on Regulation of PAs and Payment Gateways (PGs) dated 17-Mar-2020, pertaining to 'Settlement and Escrow Account Management' makes it clear that the PAs receive payments from customers in an escrow account, and are obligated to do the final settlement with the merchant within time periods specified by RBI. Therefore, the RBI regulated PAs, involved in the settlement process of making payments to the merchant, are covered by the second part of the definition of acquiring bank, i.e. "any other person, who makes the payment to any person who accepts such card" and hence, fall within the definition of acquiring bank, for the purpose of the exemption as they make the payment to the merchants who accept credit cards, debit cards, charge cards or other payment card services.

Further, the same guidelines make a clear difference between PAs and PGs, based on their roles in handling money. PAs are responsible for receiving payments from customers, pooling the funds, and transferring them to merchants within a specific timeframe. On the other hand,

PGs only provide the technology to process the payment but do not handle or manage any money, thereby such exemption shall not extend to Payment Gateways, as specifically clarified by the circular. It is also clarified that this exemption is limited to payment settlement function only, which involves handling of money, and does not cover payment gateway services.

5.11 Exemptions in case of Activities related to Arts, Sports and Culture

Culture represents the values, goals and beliefs of any nation. It is reflective of economic, social and other values of the people. A country as diverse as India is symbolized by the plurality of its culture. Similarly, for proper growth of a nation, growth of Sports and Arts are also equally important.

Thus, suitable exemption has been given to various services relating to arts, culture and sports. The following services have been exempted:

Training or coaching in sports is exempt only when it is undertaken by a charitable entity registered under section 12AA or 12AB of the Income-tax Act.

55	Carrying out an intermediate production process as job work in relation to cultivation of plants and rearing of all life forms of animals, except the rearing of horses for food, fibre, fuel, raw material or other similar products or agricultural produce. Vide Circular No. 19/19/2017-GST dated 20-Nov-2017, it was clarified that milling of paddy into rice changes its essential characteristics and therefore it cannot be considered as an intermediate production process in relation to cultivation of plants for food, fibre or other similar products or agricultural produce and thus, milling of paddy into rice is not eligible for exemption under s.no. 55 of Notification 12/2017 - Central Tax (Rate) dated 28-Jun-2017. We shall now discuss the above entries in detail hereunder:

I. Services by way of Fumigation in a Warehouse of Agricultural Produce.

Services by way of fumigation in a warehouse of agricultural produce has been exempted vide Notification No. 2/2018- Central Tax (Rate) dated 25-Jan-2018. However, this exemption has been omitted by Notification No. 4/2022 -Central Tax (Rate), dated 13-Jul-2022, w.e.f. 18-Jul-2022.

II. Services relating to Agriculture

Exemption has been given to specified services relating to cultivation of plants and rearing of all life forms of animals, except the rearing of horses for food, fibre, fuel, raw material or other similar products or agricultural produce. Such services should be by way of—

- (a) agricultural operations directly related to production of any agricultural produce including cultivation, harvesting, threshing, plant protection or testing;
- (b) supply of farm labour;
- (c) processes carried out at an agricultural farm including tending, pruning, cutting, harvesting, drying, cleaning, trimming, sun drying, fumigating, curing, sorting, grading, cooling or bulk packaging and such like operations which do not alter the essential characteristics of agricultural produce but make it only marketable for the primary market;
- (d) renting or leasing of agro machinery or vacant land with or without a structure incidental to its use;
- (e) loading, unloading, packing, storage or warehousing of agricultural produce;
- (f) agricultural extension services. The term 'agricultural extension' has been defined in Para 2(c) of Notification No. 12/2017-Central Tax (Rate) dated 20-Jun-2017 to mean application of scientific research and knowledge to agricultural practices through farmer education or training';
- (g) services by any Agricultural Produce Marketing Committee or Board or services provided by a commission agent for sale or purchase of agricultural produce;
- (h) services by way of fumigation in a warehouse of agricultural produce. This has been omitted by the Notification No. 4/2022 -Central Tax (Rate), dated 13-Jul-2022, w.e.f. 18-Jul-2022.

Services by way of erection or construction of original works pertaining to mechanised food grain handling system, machinery or equipment for units processing agricultural produce would be exempt from GST.

The term "Agriculture" has not been defined under GST Act. Under Section 65B-Clause (3) of the Finance Act, 1994, it has been defined as the cultivation of plants and rearing of all life-forms of animals, except the rearing of horses, for food, fiber, fuel, raw material or other similar products. However, under GST law, this meaning of agriculture has been incorporated in the definition of agricultural produce as defined below :

“Agricultural produce” as defined in Para 2(d) of Notification No. 12/2017-Central Tax (Rate) dated 20-Jun-2017 means any produce out of cultivation of plants and rearing of all life forms of animals, except the rearing of horses, for food, fibre, fuel, raw material or other similar products, on which either no further processing is done or such processing is done as is usually done by a cultivator or producer which does not alter its essential characteristics but makes it marketable for primary market;

“Agricultural Produce Marketing Committee or Board” as defined in Para 2(e) of Notification No. 12/2017-Central Tax (Rate) dated 20-Jun-2017 means any committee or board constituted under a State law for the time being in force for the purpose of regulating the marketing of agricultural produce;

‘Renting in relation to immovable property’ as defined in Para 2(zz) of Notification No. 12/2017-Central Tax (Rate) dated 20-Jun-2017 means allowing, permitting or granting access, entry, occupation, use or any such facility, wholly or partly, in an immovable property, with or without the transfer of possession or control of the said immovable property and includes letting, leasing, licensing or other similar arrangements in respect of immovable property.

Extracts from Sl. No. 4.4 of the Taxation of Services - An Education Guide dated 20.06.2012 published under erstwhile Service Tax Law:

- Activities like breeding of fish (pisciculture), rearing of silkworms (sericulture), cultivation of ornamental flowers (floriculture) and horticulture, forestry are also included in the definition of agriculture.
- Plantation crops like rubber, tea or coffee are covered under agricultural produce.
- Specified processes like tending, pruning, grading, sorting etc. carried out at the farm or elsewhere are also exempted as long as they do not alter the essential characteristics of agricultural produce but make it only marketable for the primary market.
- Cleaning of wheat carried out outside the farm is exempt as such activity does not alter the essential characteristics of agricultural produce. However, shelling of paddy is not exempted as this process is never done on a farm as is usually done by a cultivator or producer but in a rice sheller normally located away from the farm. However, if shelling is done by way of a service i.e. on job work then the same would be covered under the exemption relating to ‘carrying out of intermediate production process as job work in relation to agriculture’
- Potato chips or tomato ketchup do not qualify as agricultural produce because in terms of the definition of agricultural produce, only such processing should be carried out as is usually done by a cultivator or producer which does not alter its essential characteristics but makes it marketable for primary market. Potato chips or tomato ketchup are manufactured through processes which alter the essential characteristic of farm produce (potatoes and tomatoes in this case).

- Agricultural products like cereals, pulses, copra and jaggery will be covered in the ambit of 'agricultural produce' since certain amount of processing done on these products by a person other than a cultivator or producer are those processes which are usually done by a cultivator or producer.
- Processes of grinding, sterilizing, extraction packaging in retail packs of agricultural products, which make the agricultural products marketable in retail market are not exempted because only those processes are exempted which make agricultural produce marketable in the primary market.
- Leasing of vacant land with a green house or a storage shed meant for agricultural produce is exempt because such structure is incidental to its use for agriculture.
- Agricultural Produce Marketing Committees or Boards are set up under a State Law for purpose of regulating the marketing of agricultural produce. Such marketing committees or boards have been set up in most of the States and provide a variety of support services for facilitating the marketing of agricultural produce by provision of facilities and amenities like sheds, water, light, electricity, grading facilities etc. They also take measures for prevention of sale or purchase of agricultural produce below the minimum support price. APMCs collect market fees, license fees, rents etc. Services provided by such Agricultural Produce Marketing Committee or Board are covered in the negative list. However, any service provided by such bodies which is not directly related to agriculture or agricultural produce will be liable to tax e.g., renting of shops or other property.

III. Services of intermediate process in relation to Agriculture

Exemption has been given to services by way of carrying out an intermediate production process as job work in relation to cultivation of plants and rearing of all life forms of animals, except the rearing of horses for food, fibre, fuel, raw material or other similar products or agricultural produce.

The word "Job Work" has been defined under CGST Act under section 2(68) to mean "any treatment or process undertaken by a person on goods belonging to another registered person and the expression "Job Worker" shall be construed accordingly."

It is thus, evident that "Job Worker" means a person who gets raw material / intermediate goods from the principal manufacturer and carries out any process thereon. For the purpose of job work, 'principal' means a registered person who sends any inputs or capital goods, to a job worker for job-work.

If need be reference can be made to Serial No 30 of Notification No 25/2012 dated 20-Jun-2012 issued under Service Tax Law which grants exemption to intermediate production process carried out by job worker.

IV. Services by way of Slaughtering of Animals

This exemption has been omitted by the Notification No. 4/2022-Central Tax (Rate), dated 13-Jul-2022, w.e.f. 18-Jul-2022.

V. Services by way of specified activities on In-store Agricultural Goods

Exemption has been granted to services by way of pre-conditioning, pre-cooling, ripening, waxing, retail packing, labeling of fruits and vegetables which do not change or alter the essential characteristics of the said fruits or vegetables. These activities are usually undertaken in the storage facility near the market for such fruits or vegetables. The activities aim to provide shelf life or marketability to such fruits and vegetables.
